

NEW ARBITRATION PACT PROPOSED BY U. S.

AMERICA IN REQUEST SENT TO GREAT BRITAIN

UNITED STATES TAKES INITIATIVE TO SPEED UP NEGOTIATIONS

LONDON'S REPLY, RECEIVED YESTERDAY, GIVES NO EXPLANATION FOR IMPASSE

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 20.—Somewhat impatient over the year's delay since opening of negotiations, the United States has asked Great Britain for immediate action on the question of a new arbitrary treaty. It was learned at the state department today.

In the last week, notes have been exchanged on the subject, officials said. The United States took the initiative in attempting to speed up the negotiations.

The American note, delivered at the London foreign office early this week, inquired of the British government the reasons for the delay. The United Press learned it was so framed as to leave no doubt of the American government's increasing impatience.

London's reply, received yesterday, offered no explanation for the impasse other than to say the foreign office had not yet heard from all the dominions concerning their attitude toward the proposed treaty. It was pointed out here, however, that London should have had plenty of time to confer with the dominion governments inasmuch as the draft treaty was handed the British ambassador as long ago as December 29 of last year.

Negotiations with Japan present a similar situation, officials said, although the state department is not now planning a formal request to Tokyo to expedite action. A draft arbitration pact was handed the Japanese ambassador on December 31, 1927. Since then the Japanese negotiations have hung fire.

It has been explained that preparations for coronation of the new emperor and the change in ambassadors here have primarily been responsible for Japan's inactivity.

An equally acceptable explanation, however, had not been advanced respecting Great Britain. Washington and London are reported now to find themselves deadlocked over the British plan to add a fifth reservation to the projected treaty.

The pact as drafted contains four reservations excepting from arbitration all controversies involving domestic questions, the rights of third parties, the Monroe doctrine and the League of Nations. To these, according to semi-official indications from London, the British want to add another condition to except from the arbitral process all questions affecting the recently enunciated British "Monroe Doctrine."

This doctrine was set forth by Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, in the anti-war treaty negotiations when he warned the United States that the anti-war pact would not be permitted to prejudice British freedom of action in "certain regions of the world the welfare and integrity of which constitute a special and vital interest for our peace and safety."

Reparations, War Debt Problem is a Vexing One

SMITH STAND ON TARIFF CRITICIZED BY SECY. WILBUR

Newport News, Va., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith's declarations on the tariff question were criticized here last night in a speech by Secretary of Navy Wilbur who urged election of Herbert Hoover.

Smith's suggestions to refer tariff problems to the tariff commission were described by Wilbur as a proposal to turn congressional functions over to a body of experts.

"The wisdom on getting expert advice on the problems of government is manifest, but an agreement in advance to abide by their conclusions is hardly wise," Wilbur said.

HOOVER LEADS IN PARTS OF THE "SOLID SOUTH"

LITERARY DIGEST POLL SAYS
REPUBLICANS GAIN IN 6 OF 10 STATES

RETURNS FROM 48 STATES GIVE
HOOVER LEAD IN 42
OF THEM

Hoover is leading in six of the ten states in the "Solid South" as more than 2,500,000 returns from all of the forty-eight states are reported in The Literary Digest's huge national presidential poll which is published today.

With the vote announced as not yet completed, Smith is carrying only Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina, while Hoover has substantial margins over his rival in the democratic strongholds of Florida, North Carolina, Texas and Virginia and sparring leads in Alabama and Arkansas, which leads The Literary Digest classes as doubtful.

The border states of Kentucky, Maryland, Oklahoma and Tennessee give the republican candidate a comfortable plurality.

Of the total of 2,529,997 votes returned in this fifth week's tabulations of The Literary Digest's poll, Hoover has 1,593,436 while Smith has 910,234. This gives a percentage of 63 for Hoover to 36 for Smith, which is almost the precise ratio of last week's returns.

Hoover at present shows a lead in this "straw poll" in several of the states that are generally considered doubtful, as in Wisconsin, where he is ahead by 31,351 to 21,847; in North Dakota, where he leads by 5,408 to 2,893; in Minnesota, where his ratio is 52,882 to 23,021; and in Montana, where he is polling 6,750 to Smith's 3,152.

The republican candidate is leading in returns from all the eastern states from Maine to Delaware by ratios of 2 to 1 and 3 to 1 except in New York, where, though he has a substantial lead in the state as a whole, the New York City vote is strongly favorable to the democratic side, showing Smith with 130,822 to Hoover's 93,974.

An analysis of "how the same voters voted in 1924" offers the significant shift that for the first time since this "postcard election" was started Smith is polling more of his strength from voters who state that they voted democratic in the last presidential election than those who have changed from republican ranks, although the difference is rather slight. Previously he has had in his column more 1924 republicans than 1924 democrats.

In the south Hoover is indicated as obtaining the better part of his support from democratic sources in the states where he shows a lead.

In individual polls of Chicago and Philadelphia, where the entire registered electorate is being polled, the same as in New York City, Hoover shows an advantage of 93,286 to 67,646 in the Illinois metropolis and 68,495 to 47,810 in Philadelphia. Against this Smith is shown polling more of his strength from former republicans than from previous democratic voters in both of these cities.

"The poll establishes a new record this week," The Literary Digest states editorially, "with 2,529,997 votes recorded as against somewhat less than 2,000,000 when the poll of 1924 had reached the present stage of development."

"With the present tabulation the

Tremendous Herd of Canadian Caribou is Now Sweeping South Toward Hudson Bay Junction

MOST SOUTHERLY POINT REACHED IN 20 YEARS

SETTLERS IN PATH ALARMED
BY IMMENSITY OF HERD

MIGRATION OF HERD TAKEN AS FORECAST OF SEVERE WINTER

Regina, Sask., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—A tremendous herd of Canadian caribou today was reported sweeping south toward Hudson Bay Junction, the most southerly point they have reached for more than 20 years.

Settlers were said to be alarmed by the immensity of the herd, fearful lest their stacked grain and fences be destroyed by the caribou in their quest for forage.

The migration of these hardy animals was taken as a forecast of an unusually severe winter.

Meanwhile big game hunters from Canada and the United States were awaiting anxiously for the opening of the hunting season on Nov. 15. Hundreds of sportsmen are expected to make a rush into the Hudson Bay Junction territory for the fine hunting sure to result from the coming of the caribou.

Moose, deer and wild geese are said to be exceptionally plentiful this fall, it was said by the provincial department of wild game.

In a letter to the Dispatch, Captain and Mrs. W. H. Fawcett, now on an Alaskan visit, reported seeing an immense caribou herd traveling southward through the region near Fairbanks.

returns may be considered for the first time fairly representative of the country as a whole. The division of the vote is slightly more favorable to Governor Smith than in the earlier tabulations.

"The wide-spread breaking down of political fences, noted throughout the previous reports, is even more evident in the present tabulation. It may be observed, however, that with fuller reports from the southern states, there is an increasing switch of democrats to Hoover, along with Mr. Smith's increasing suffrage from former republicans.

"For the first time in the poll, it will be noticed, Governor Smith draws more of his support from democrats of 1924 than from republicans of that year. He still has against 233,555 former democrats 334,931 of these 'switched' votes, as who are now for Hoover.

"The shift of former republicans, several authorities agree, means merely that democrats who voted for Coolidge in 1924 are now returning to their home camp, but the fact remains, of course, that there has been a switch since 1924."

'GRANDMA' DUNHAM CELEBRATES HER 103RD BIRTHDAY

Minneapolis, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Dorothy Reed Smith Dunham today celebrated here her 103rd birthday, still interested in the affairs of the world, particularly politics.

Mrs. Dunham, through the newspapers and radio, had evinced a keen interest in politics. She reiterated her intention to go to the polls on November 6, to cast her ballot for Herbert Hoover.

TWO CHILDREN FALL TO DEATH IN NEW YORK

JEALOUS OF THEIR MOTHER'S DEVOTION, TRIED TO CLAM-
BER INTO HER LAP

FELL FROM EDGE OF BUNGALOW
ATOP A 16-STORY BUILDING

New York, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Two children, each jealous of a mother's devotion, fell to their deaths from the top of a 16-story building as they tried to clamber into their mother's lap yesterday.

Mrs. Milton S. Waldman, the daughter of Benjamin Gugenheim, had gone to visit her cousin, Mrs. Cornelius Ruxton Love, Jr., who lives in a bungalow atop a sixteen-story building. Mrs. Love was not at home but Mrs. Waldman and her two children, Terrence, 4½, and Benjamin, 14 months, went to the garden which adjoins the house.

Mrs. Waldman was holding Benjamin in her lap and the older brother seemed jealous of the attention bestowed upon the baby. He tried also to clamber into his mother's lap.

Joseph Huler, a painter, witnessed the scene and was amused at the tussle of the little boy. He said Terrence kept pulling at his mother.

Finally Mrs. Waldman, Huler said, attempted to placate the elder brother and in the resulting scramble both children fell over the ledge, dropping 13 floors to a roof below. Both children were dead when they were found.

'COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE' PROVES A SAD FAILURE

Philadelphia, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—True to her threat to attempt suicide because her "companionate marriage" was a failure, Mrs. Barbara Elliott, 24, of New York, today attempted to jump from the Delaware river bridge to her death.

The quick action of a bridge patrolman who held the struggling woman who wanted, she said, to dispose of herself, saved the woman.

In a note yesterday she said she wanted to commit suicide because she could not find her "companionate husband," Charles Elliott, who disappeared two weeks after the ceremony.

PAWNS FUR COAT FOR DEADLY POISON

MISS ISABELLE GRANT, DAUGH-TER OF KENTUCKY PIONEERS, KILLS SELF

DIES IN HOSPITAL AFTER SWAL-
LOWING POISON IN EVANS-
TON HOTEL

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Isabelle Grant, daughter of Kentucky pioneers, once the idol of opera lovers in Vienna, Dresden and Cologne, pawned her fur coat to obtain money for poison with which she killed herself here.

Mrs. Grant, whose stage names were Belle Applegate and Phadrig Ago'n, died in a psychopathic hospital a few hours after she swallowed the poison in an Evanston hotel room, where she had lived only two days.

In a letter, Mrs. Grant said "This is the end of an opera star. My blood be upon America for her treatment of the daughter of Kentucky pioneers."

As Belle Applegate and Phadrig Ago'n, Mrs. Grant gained fame in Europe during the first years of the twentieth century and reached her peak in 1909, when she was the mezzo soprano at the Stadt theater in Cologne.

It was not until after the world war, in which her husband was killed, that the opera star's fame began to dim. As her voice and beauty faded, she lost her health and means of support. She was almost destitute when she came here from Louisville, three months ago. She was making arrangements for an audition with opera managers here when she became ill and was forced to go to a charity ward in a hospital.

She secured her baggage, pawned everything of value she had, including her fur coat, and used the money to rent the hotel room and buy poison.

It was believed the reference to the "American people" was the expression of a bitter regret that her voice had not been recognized here as she felt it should have been.

EUROPE STRIVES HARD TO COME TO SETTLEMENT

MANY DIFFICULTIES ARE TO BE OVERCOME BEFORE SOLU-TION IS REACHED

POINCARÉ, GILBERT AND WIN-
STON CHURCHILL IN LONG CONFERENCE

Paris, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Europe, striving hard to settle the vexing reparations and war debt problem after eight years of unsatisfactory arrangements, began to realize today the difficulties that must be overcome before a solution can be reached.

High hopes were raised by yesterday's conference of Premier Raymond Poincaré of France, S. Parker Gilbert, agent general of reparations payments, and Winston Churchill, British chancellor of the exchequer.

It developed today that the result of the first conference was absolutely nil. England and France were as far apart as ever in their ideas of how the problem should be handled, and there still remained the firm insistence of the United States that payment of war debts cannot be made contingent on how much Germany pays in reparations, or how soon she pays it.

England stood on the principle of the Balfour note of 1922. France stood by the speech of Poincaré at Chambery on Sept. 30 last. Gilbert stood for revision of the Dawes plan as soon as possible.

Poincaré at Chambery insisted first that Germany must pay France what France owes England and the United States; secondly, that Germany must pay a net sum for war damages. Otherwise, he said France would be willing to see the Dawes plan continued unchanged.

Churchill's position likewise was clearly cut, the Balfour note having insisted that England must receive from her war debtors what she must pay the United States.

SECRETARY KELLOGG ON THE WAY BACK TO WASHINGTON

Later Lindbergh will be a guest of Luis Leon, minister of agriculture, at his ranch in Chihuahua.

Lindbergh is affectionately remembered here for his visit on his central American good will tour, when he received tremendous popular ovation.

'COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE' PROVES A SAD FAILURE

Philadelphia, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—True to her threat to attempt suicide because her "companionate marriage" was a failure, Mrs. Barbara Elliott, 24, of New York, today attempted to jump from the Delaware river bridge to her death.

The quick action of a bridge patrolman who held the struggling woman who wanted, she said, to dispose of herself, saved the woman.

In a note yesterday she said she wanted to commit suicide because she could not find her "companionate husband," Charles Elliott, who disappeared two weeks after the ceremony.

PAWNS FUR COAT FOR DEADLY POISON

MISS ISABELLE GRANT, DAUGH- TER OF KENTUCKY PIONEERS, KILLS SELF

DIES IN HOSPITAL AFTER SWAL- LOWING POISON IN EVANS- TON HOTEL

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Isabelle Grant, daughter of Kentucky pioneers, once the idol of opera lovers in Vienna, Dresden and Cologne, pawned her fur coat to obtain money for poison with which she killed herself here.

Mrs. Grant, whose stage names were Belle Applegate and Phadrig Ago'n, died in a psychopathic hospital a few hours after she swallowed the poison in an Evanston hotel room, where she had lived only two days.

In a letter, Mrs. Grant said "This is the end of an opera star. My blood be upon America for her treatment of the daughter of Kentucky pioneers."

As Belle Applegate and Phadrig Ago'n, Mrs. Grant gained fame in Europe during the first years of the twentieth century and reached her peak in 1909, when she was the mezzo soprano at the Stadt theater in Cologne.

It was not until after the world war, in which her husband was killed, that the opera star's fame began to dim. As her voice and beauty faded, she lost her health and means of support. She was almost destitute when she came here from Louisville, three months ago. She was making arrangements for an audition with opera managers here when she became ill and was forced to go to a charity ward in a hospital.

She secured her baggage, pawned everything of value she had, including her fur coat, and used the money to rent the hotel room and buy poison.

It was believed the reference to the "American people" was the expression of a bitter regret that her voice had not been recognized here as she felt it should have been.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Pledges 'Wholehearted Support to My Party'

Miami, Fla., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Without naming directly the democratic national ticket, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, and candidate for congress from the fourth Florida district, pledged her "wholehearted support to my party" in a radio address last night.

SEEKS TO 'GET EVEN' WITH THE 'OTHER WOMAN'

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Victoria Yonan, 32, who said she "just has to try to get even with her husband's other woman every time she goes to Oak Park," escaped punishment for her third attack on Mrs. Elsie May McKibben by pleading the unwritten law.

A jury freed Mrs. Yonan when she pleaded that she beat Mrs. McKibben because "she lured my husband away from me."

EUROPE STRIVES HARD TO COME TO SETTLEMENT

MANY DIFFICULTIES ARE TO BE OVERCOME BEFORE SOLU- TION IS REACHED

POINCARE, GILBERT AND WIN- STON CHURCHILL IN LONG CONFERENCE

Paris, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Europe, striving hard to settle the vexing reparations and war debt problem after eight years of unsatisfactory arrangements, began to realize today the difficulties that must be overcome before a solution can be reached.

High hopes were raised by yesterday's conference of Premier Raymond Poincare of France, S. Parker Gilbert, agent general of reparations payments, and Winston Churchill, British chancellor of the exchequer.

It developed today that the result of the first conference was absolutely nil. England and France were as far apart as ever in their ideas of how the problem should be handled, and there still remained the firm insistence of the United States that payment of war debts cannot be made contingent on how much Germany pays in reparations, or how soon she pays it.

England stood on the principle of the Balfour note of 1922. France stood by the speech of Poincare at Chambery on Sept. 30 last. Gilbert stood for revision of the Dawes plan as soon as possible.

Poincare at Chambery insisted first that Germany must pay France what France owes England and the United States; secondly, that Germany must pay a net sum for war damages. Otherwise, he said France would be willing to see the Dawes plan continued unchanged.

Churchill's position likewise was clearly cut. The Balfour note having insisted that England must receive from her war debtors what she must pay the United States.

SECRETARY KELLOGG ON THE WAY BACK TO WASHINGTON

St. Paul, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, was en route to Washington today after a week's vacation in his home state.

Kellogg said before he departed that after he had ended his career as a government official he will return to make his permanent home in Minnesota.

During his stay here the secretary made his first political speech of the present campaign, in which he lauded Herbert Hoover, delivered the chief address at the dedication of Severance Hall at Carleton college, and received the degree, doctor of laws from Carleton.

COL. LINDBERGH TO HUNT IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will spend several weeks hunting in the states of Coahuila and Chihuahua, friends here have been advised.

The flier will arrive at Eagle Pass next week by airplane from New York. He will be a guest at La Babin, the ranch of Hal Magnum, American, who recently entertained United States Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow for ten days.

The Magnum ranch contains approximately 1,000,000 acres and the region affords splendid hunting. It is about 100 miles by automobile from Eagle Pass.

Later Lindbergh will be a guest of Luis Leon, minister of agriculture, at his ranch in Chihuahua.

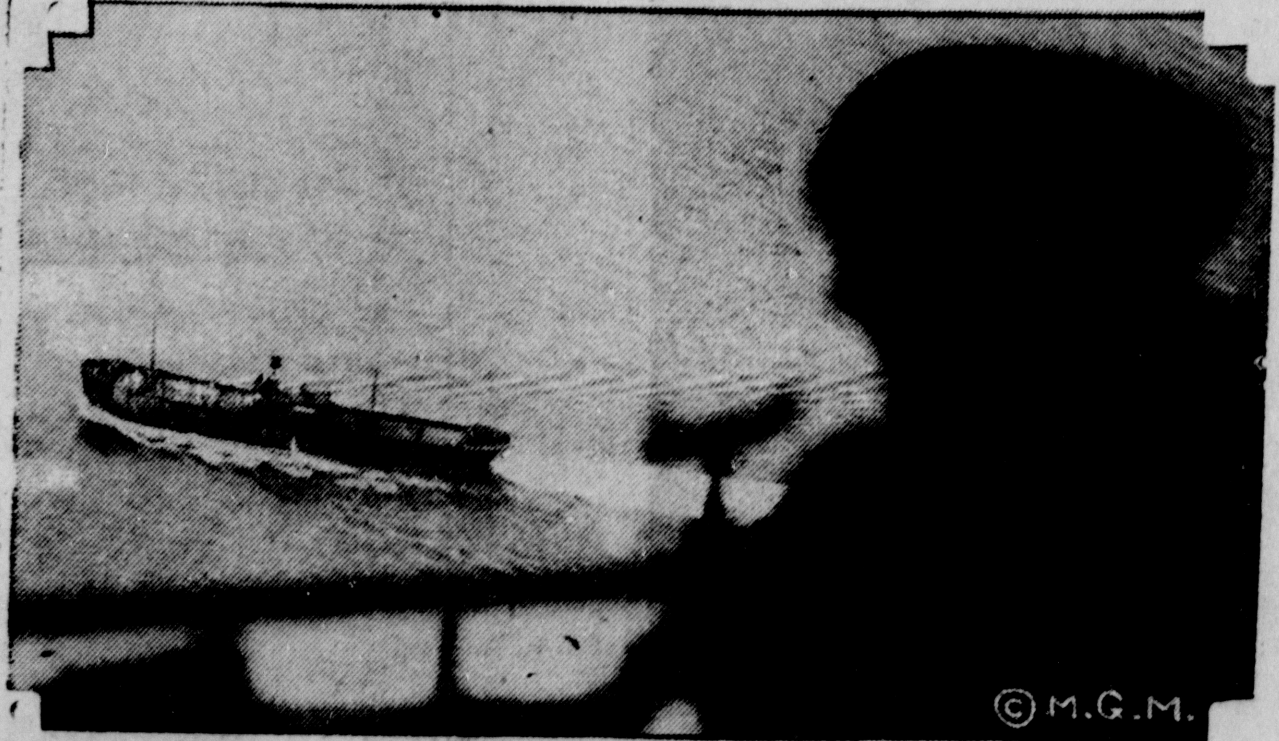

Lindbergh is affectionately remembered here for his visit on his central American good will tour, when he received tremendous popular ovation.

3,000 PEOPLE INSPECT THE GRAF ZEPPELIN

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Three thousand persons inspected the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin today and saw the trans-Atlantic ship get part of the fuel it will use on its western tour.

Repairs to the port fin are still proceeding.

BEBE DANIELS IN THE PARAMOUNT PICTURE "TAKE ME HOME"

Leading ladies have a way of tangling up the skeins of love. That's what Bebe Daniels and Neil Hamilton get mixed up in this comedy-drama of the back-stage. That's why Bebe, for safety, cries, "Take Me Home," at Lyceum Sunday only.

Of Volcanic Origin

Falcon Island is a volcanic island of the Tonga group in the Pacific ocean. It was thrown up by the volcanic eruption of October 14, 1885. It partly disappeared a little later and then again reappeared.

Other members who have joined so far are Sigrid Satre, Gertrude Erickson, Jane Hill, Florence Selen, Rose Haubrick, Mardel Nelson, and Lucille Brandt.

The Blue Birds are having their first hike Saturday afternoon. They will look for bird visitors and late flowers.

The Tatapochon Camp Fire girls went on a treasure hike, which led them along the Mississippi river. The treasure was eventually found by Flora Jane Elder. A fire was made and bacon and eggs fried. Several of the girls fried their eggs and bacon on a hot stone. An honor is received for successfully frying an egg on a hot stone.

The Wadataka Camp Fire girls of the Lincoln school are working with potato printing at present. There are 13 girls in this group.

Interesting Fact

An "Anti-Road Hog League" has been formed in Australia.

Oldest State Park

The first state park of large size, set apart primarily for recreation, was one which is now a famous national park, Yosemite. Congress ceded the valley and a mile-wide border around it to California as a state park in 1865.

Back to Earth

City Dweller (twenty years hence), Yes, we've given up our tower apartment and moved down to the ground floor. We liked it up there, but the noise of the air traffic was simply terrific.

TARIFF BY COMMISSION IMPOSSIBLE

DR. SMITH's prescription to substitute a commission for Congress in the matter of determining tariff rates of duty, and of abolishing a general tariff revision and substituting for it piecemeal revision, has stirred up a campaign hornets' nest.

With the directness characteristic of the man, Herbert Hoover, less than forty-eight hours after Dr. Smith had offered his nostrum to the public, made it clear that "the American people will never consent to delegating authority over the tariff to any commission, whether non-partisan or bi-partisan." Further, Mr. Hoover declared "our people have a right to express themselves at the ballot upon so vital a question as this. There is only one commission to which delegation of that authority can be made. That is the great commission of their own choosing, the Congress of the United States and the President."

The Smithsonian press of the country are already declaring this to be a misrepresentation of Dr. Smith's tariff nostrum by Mr. Hoover. It is not. Governor Smith pledged himself to "specific revisions in specific schedules, each considered on its own merits" by an impartial Tariff Commission whose recommendations would then go before Congress for consideration.

What an utterly absurd and ridiculous tariff proposal this is in the light of the procedure necessary to change the tariff. It calls up a picture of Governor Smith hearing that the tariff on peanuts is too high. So he dashes over to his non-partisan Tariff Commission and orders an investigation made. A year and a half later, the Commission reports its findings on peanuts and Governor Smith dashes to the Capitol, orders everything else stopped and then Congress settles down to a consideration of the Commission's recommendations on the peanut tariff.

With over four thousand articles covered by an American tariff law, what more need be said to bring out the complete absurdity, impossibility and impracticability of Governor Smith's prescription for piecemeal tariff revision.

WHO OPENS THE DOOR

THE Northwestern Bell Telephone Company in its current advertisement preaches a well-timed little sermon in the text headed "Who Opens the Door." It is an appeal for civility and courtesy over the telephone, a reminder that often the only impression the customer receives is the response made over the phone, that in the hands of those entrusted with this important duty rests the reputation of a business establishment.

Many merchants and professional men overlook this important feature of their business. They do not impress upon their clerks the importance of the telephone smile, they themselves when under the strain of their daily duties forget to be pleasant in their telephonic greetings. Many a man noted for his smile of greeting on the street lapses into a gruff and discourteous manner when he hunches over his cluttered desk.

At times we find men who believe that gruffness indicates directness and that curtness lends an air of importance to his transactions. We have never found this to be true. Courtesy and friendliness has always paid big returns to the establishments that make it a feature.

In the big cities the telephone operators in business establishments are selected and trained with more than ordinary care and it is frequent that one remarks on the cordial voice and pleasant manner of the information clerk who is entrusted with handling incoming calls.

The fact that the person who answers the phone at your store or office is in reality the person who "opens the door" is a good thought.—Bemidji Sentinel.

CANAL NAVIGATION

THE old Welland canal was badly damaged recently when a Norwegian freighter caused havoc which, officials say, cannot be repaired in less than three days. Meanwhile a number of grain vessels are being held up, at considerable loss.

This incident merely emphasizes the risks in canal navigation. Of course, the larger and deeper the canal, and the fewer locks it contains, the safer it is. The new Welland will be far better than the old from the standpoint of safety because it will be so much wider and deeper, and its locks so much more commodious.

But the accident to the Welland canal makes one wonder at the blindness of advocates of the ship canal across New York, which they prefer to the St. Lawrence waterway. That canal would be 128 miles long! And canal navigation is the most dangerous in the world, as any insurance company can testify.—Detroit News.

IOWA IS PROGRESSIVE

EXACTLY 600 miles of concrete pavement had been completed on Iowa primary roads between April 1 and August 31 this year. With pavement previously laid and work which is still under way, it is expected that the Hawkeye state will have around 1,650 miles of pavement at the end of the present year.

Construction during the present year has been financed largely by county bond issues. Iowa voters will pass on a $100,000,000 bond issue at the election Nov. 6, and if it passes, the counties will be reimbursed for the money they have borrowed and advanced to the state, and there will be enough left over so that Iowa will within four or five years have a completed trunk highway system, with about 4,000 miles of pavement and 2,000 miles of modern gravel highways. The bonds and interest will be paid from motor vehicle and gas taxes.

THE high school graduating class of 1929 is blessed with memories of an old high school, of a temporary high school and of a beautiful high school to be occupied by the succeeding class. They are certainly banked in with a lot of good memories.

A HUMOROUS, philosophical cast of mind acts as a sort of safety valve when one meets the hard situations of life and one's composure seems on the point of blowing up.

THE Rotarian banquet for the teachers, an annual event, is looked forward to eagerly by pedagogues and club members.

THE Brainerd Lake Region continues to bask in the finest weather on earth. Why go to California or Florida.

CAMPAIGN SPEECHES ARE SIDETRACKED FOR EDISON CEREMONIES

New York, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Neither of the major political parties will use the big radio networks tonight for the broadcasting of campaign speeches. Instead, free time on the N. B. C. national chain will be occupied by ceremonies honoring Thomas A. Edison.

Sunday evening, however, there will be a political radio hook-up. The regular 21-station chain of the Columbia Broadcasting system will broadcast a dramatization of the career of Governor Alfred E. Smith, beginning at 7:30 p. m. eastern time.

The dramatic sketch is entitled "Up from the City Streets" and was adapted for radio by Fulton Oursler, playwright, from the Norman Hapgood and Henry Moskowitz biography of Smith.

The next campaign address to be heard over an extensive network will be heard Monday evening, when the N. B. C. chain broadcasts Herbert Hoover's speech in Madison Square Garden. Hoover will go on the air at 8:30 p. m. eastern time. Radio facilities have been engaged for an hour and 15 minutes.

COAST-TO-COAST NETWORK RECORDS EDISON CEREMONY

New York, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—A coast-to-coast network of 48 stations connected with the National Broadcasting company will broadcast tonight the ceremonies incidental to the presentation to Thomas A. Edison of the congressional medal of honor.

The presentation speech will be made by Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton university, will also speak.

The program will be opened at 9

p. m. eastern time (8 p. m. Brainerd time), by a brief address by President Coolidge, extolling the great inventor. The scene will then shift to Edison's laboratory in East Orange, N. J., where Secretary Mellon will formally award the medal which was voted him by congress during its last session.

Another feature of the program will be the return to Edison of his original phonograph. The ancient machine which has been in a British museum will be presented to the inventor by Donald Campbell of the British embassy on behalf of the British government.

TARIFF BY COMMISSION IMPOSSIBLE

DR. SMITH's prescription to substitute a commission for Congress in the matter of determining tariff rates of duty, and of abolishing a general tariff revision and substituting for it piecemeal revision, has stirred up a campaign hornets' nest.

With the directness characteristic of the man, Herbert Hoover, less than forty-eight hours after Dr. Smith had offered his nostrum to the public, made it clear that "the American people will never consent to delegating authority over the tariff to any commission, whether non-partisan or bi-partisan." Further, Mr. Hoover declared "our people have a right to express themselves at the ballot upon so vital a question as this. There is only one commission to which delegation of that authority can be made. That is the great commission of their own choosing, the Congress of the United States and the President."

The Smithsonian press of the country are already declaring this to be a misrepresentation of Dr. Smith's tariff nostrum by Mr. Hoover. It is not. Governor Smith pledged himself to "specific revisions in specific schedules, each considered on its own merits" by an impartial Tariff Commission whose recommendations would then go before Congress for consideration.

What an utterly absurd and ridiculous tariff proposal this is in the light of the procedure necessary to change the tariff. It calls up a picture of Governor Smith hearing that the tariff on peanuts is too high. So he dashes over to his non-partisan Tariff Commission and orders an investigation made. A year and a half later, the Commission reports its findings on peanuts and Governor Smith dashes to the Capitol, orders everything else stopped and then Congress settles down to a consideration of the Commission's recommendations on the peanut tariff.

With over four thousand articles covered by an American tariff law, what more need be said to bring out the complete absurdity, impossibility and impracticability of Governor Smith's prescription for piecemeal tariff revision.

WHO OPENS THE DOOR

THE Northwestern Bell Telephone Company in its current advertisement preaches a well-timed little sermon in the text headed "Who Opens the Door." It is an appeal for civility and courtesy over the telephone, a reminder that often the only impression the customer receives is the response made over the phone, that in the hands of those entrusted with this important duty rests the reputation of a business establishment.

Many merchants and professional men overlook this important feature of their business. They do not impress upon their clerks the importance of the telephone smile, they themselves when under the strain of their daily duties forget to be pleasant in their telephonic greetings. Many a man noted for his smile of greeting on the street lapses into a gruff and discourteous manner when he hunches over his becluttered desk.

At times we find men who believe that gruffness indicates directness and that curtness lends an air of importance to his transactions. We have never found this to be true. Courtesy and friendliness has always paid big returns to the establishments that make it a feature.

In the big cities the telephone operators in business establishments are selected and trained with more than ordinary care and it is frequent that one remarks on the cordial voice and pleasant manner of the information clerk who is entrusted with handling incoming calls.

The fact that the person who answers the phone at your store or office is in reality the person who "opens the door" is a good thought.—Bemidji Sentinel.

CANAL NAVIGATION

THE old Welland canal was badly damaged recently when a Norwegian freighter caused havoc which, officials say, cannot be repaired in less than three days. Meanwhile a number of grain vessels are being held up, at considerable loss.

This incident merely emphasizes the risks in canal navigation. Of course, the larger and deeper the canal, and the fewer locks it contains, the safer it is. The new Welland will be far better than the old from the standpoint of safety because it will be so much wider and deeper, and its locks so much more commodious.

But the accident to the Welland canal makes one wonder at the blindness of advocates of the ship canal across New York, which they prefer to the St. Lawrence waterway. That canal would be 128 miles long! And canal navigation is the most dangerous in the world, as any insurance company can testify.—Detroit News.

IOWA IS PROGRESSIVE

EXACTLY 600 miles of concrete pavement had been completed on Iowa primary roads between April 1 and August 31 this year. With pavement previously built and work which is still under way, it is expected that the Hawkeye state will have around 1,650 miles of pavement at the end of the present year.

Construction during the present year has been financed largely by county bond issues. Iowa voters will pass on a $100,000,000 bond issue at the election Nov. 6, and if it passes, the counties will be reimbursed for the money they have borrowed and advanced to the state, and there will be enough left over so that Iowa will within four or five years have a completed trunk highway system, with about 4,000 miles of pavement and 2,000 miles of modern gravel highways. The bonds and interest will be paid from motor vehicle and gas taxes.

THE high school graduating class of 1929 is blessed with memories of an old high school, of a temporary high school and of a beautiful high school to be occupied by the succeeding class. They are certainly banked in with a lot of good memories.

A HUMOROUS, philosophical cast of mind acts as a sort of safety valve when one meets the hard situations of life and one's composure seems on the point of blowing up.

THE Rotarian banquet for the teachers, an annual event, is looked forward to eagerly by pedagogues and club members.

THE Brainerd Lake Region continues to bask in the finest weather on earth. Why go to California or Florida.

CAMPAIGN SPEECHES ARE SIDETRACKED FOR EDISON CEREMONIES

New York, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Neither of the major political parties will use the big radio networks tonight for the broadcasting of campaign speeches.

Instead, free time on the N. B. C. national chain will be occupied by ceremonies honoring Thomas A. Edison.

Sunday evening, however, there will be a political radio hook-up. The regular 21-station chain of the Columbia Broadcasting system will broadcast a dramatization of the career of Governor Alfred E. Smith, beginning at 7:30 p. m. eastern time.

The dramatic sketch is entitled "Up from the City Streets" and was adapted for radio by Fulton Oursler, playwright, from the Norman Hapgood and Henry Moskowitz biography of Smith.

The next campaign address to be heard over an extensive network will be heard Monday evening, when the N. B. C. chain broadcasts Herbert Hoover's speech in Madison Square Garden. Hoover will go on the air at 8:30 p. m. eastern time. Radio facilities have been engaged for an hour and 15 minutes.

COAST-TO-COAST NETWORK RECORDS EDISON CEREMONY

New York, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—A coast-to-coast network of 48 stations connected with the National Broadcasting company will broadcast tonight the ceremonies incidental to the presentation to Thomas A. Edison of the congressional medal of honor.

The presentation speech will be made by Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton university, will also speak.

The program will be opened at 9

p. m. eastern time (8 p. m. Brainerd time), by a brief address by President Coolidge, extolling the great inventor. The scene will then shift to Edison's laboratory in East Orange, N. J., where Secretary Mellon will formally award the medal which was voted him by congress during its last session.

Another feature of the program will be the return to Edison of his original phonograph. The ancient machine which has been in a British museum will be presented to the inventor by Donald Campbell of the British embassy on behalf of the British government.

BRAINERD CRUSHES AITKIN, 18 TO 6 IN LAST HOME GAME

MINNESOTA TAKES CHICAGO TEAM INTO CAMP, 33-7

BRAINERD TEAM HAS BIG DAY, BRILLIANT END RUNS NET GAINS

GABIOU, WISE, SWANSON AND HALVORSON SHARE HONORS IN CONSISTENT GAINS

AITKIN USES LATERAL PASS TO ADVANTAGE, BOTH LINES WEAK AT TIMES

Braierd high school finished its home football season in a blaze of glory yesterday afternoon at South Sixth street field by outplaying Aitkin, crashing through for an 18 to 6 victory in a game that was featured by spectacular runs on the part of Gabiou, Wise, Swanson, and Halvorson.

The game afforded plenty of action for the three hundred fans present. Braierd had its share of glory in completing forward passes that gained yardage and touchdowns. Aitkin presented a line plunge, end run, and lateral pass attack. Aitkin's forward passes were knocked down in the majority of attempts for no gains.

Braierd's line yesterday showed weakness, losing yards on three occasions on offense penalties. However on two plays near the Braierd goal line the Aitkin charges found this line a brick wall but pushed over their only touchdown on fourth down after being held half a yard from the line on three plays.

The local backfield had a big day. Gabiou before he was taken out near the close of the first half with arm and leg injuries carried the ball and tackled in brilliant fashion. Beautiful running interference flashed all through yesterday's game as the locals time and again carried the ball for first downs into the enemy territory.

Braierd received Aitkin's kick and Gabiou carried the ball to Aitkin's 40 yard line. Swanson carried the ball around right end for four yards and Gabiou followed with an eight yard run making first down on Aitkin's 28 yard line. Gabiou carried the ball on two end runs and Swanson's run around right end brought the ball to within one yard of Aitkin's goal. On third down, Fuller plunged over the line for Braierd's first touchdown within five minutes of play. The forward pass for point after touchdown failed.

After receiving the ball Aitkin brought the ball down to within one yard of the Braierd line on line plunges, end runs, and lateral passes. The quarter ended with the ball one yard from the goal line and at the start of play again in the second quarter Richardson carried the ball over for Aitkin's only touchdown. The forward pass for point after touchdown failed.

Braierd's second touchdown came when Gabiou carried the ball over the Aitkin line after a beautiful run around right end for 20 yards. Kicking, Braierd failed to make point after touchdown.

Wise carried the ball for a big gain as the whistle sounded for the half.

Lammon tallied for Braierd after receiving a 15 yard forward pass thrown by Wise. The locals failed to make point after touchdown. Halvorson carried the ball on five occasions for 30 yards gain in the second half.

Hoffbauer sent in one minute before the game closed, celebrated by bringing the game to a spectacular finish. He picked the ball out of the air as it bounced off one of the Aitkin men's shoulders on a forward pass from Wise and carried it down to within one yard from the Aitkin goal line where he was downed as the whistle blew.

Yesterday's game showed that the reserves were ready to step in and do good work, demonstrating the result of constant practice.

Goedderz at right end played his last home game in spite of a sprained ankle. Larsen at right tackle played his usual steady game. Gabiou and Wise finished their careers on the local field by giving the fans a treat in watching end runs by their side stepping and twisting. However their runs were only made possible by the good interference of Dybvik, Swanson, Fuller and Halvorson.

George McCaffrey, Alex Nelson and Lein, substituted in the line. The three are seniors and were playing their last home game for Braierd high.

The lineups: Braierd—Lammon, le; Paine, lt; Abrahamson, lg; Hautala, c; Foster, rg; Larson, rt; Goedderz, re; Gabiou, q; Dybvik, lb; Swanson, rhb; Fuller, fb. Substitutions, G. McCaffrey for Goedderz; Halvorson for Gabiou; A. Nelson for Foster; Lien for Abrahamson; Garvey for Larson; Hoffbauer for Lammon.

Aitkin—Stevens, le; Johnson, lt; Hamey, lg; Radcliffe, c; Booker, rg; Laukkanen, rt; Bass, re; Nicander, Works.

q: W. Stevens, rhb; Skarbäckle, lbh; Richardson, fb. Referee—Aimes, Little Falls.

New Teams Added

Four new teams have been added to the League for bowling.

John Thompson, local Sinclair oil man, has entered a team to be known as the Sinclair Oils. The Moose lodge has entered two teams, the Moose No. 1 and the Moose No. 2. Glenn Marcomb is in charge, and is receiving entries for the teams. The fourth team will have "Wally" Anderson, Lee Avery and "Muddy" Bergstrand on the team, with two others yet to be chosen.

These four teams will start bowling next Wednesday evening, and being two matches behind in the schedule, will have to roll extra matches within the next two weeks to get caught up.

Great interest is shown in the ten pin games this season. Good scores are being rolled every evening, and big 609 counts are going to be common as the season progresses.

Some especially good matches are on for the coming week, the schedule being as follows:

Monday, Oct. 22—Independents vs. Alley Kids. Bye Clothing Co. vs. Elks No. 2.

Tuesday, Oct. 23—Study Club vs. Cottage Grill. Peterson Clothing Co. vs. Eagles.

Paolino Uzcudun Has Defeat Against Record

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Oct. 20.—Paolino Uzcudun, the Basque heavyweight, had a defeat against his record today where a victory should have been.

In his over-eagerness to make quick work of Big Boy Peterson, New Orleans heavyweight, in a scheduled 10-round bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, last night, Paolino struck Peterson while the latter was on his knees and lost on a foul after two minutes, 20 seconds of fighting in the second round.

Paolino had floored Peterson for a count of nine early in the second round. The big New Orleans fighter was on his knees when, standing over him, Paolino started a left uppercut which grazed Peterson's throat and caught him under the chin.

Referee Lou Magnolia rushed in and feigned the Basque aside. It took several minutes to bring Peterson to his senses.

The crowd of 5,000 booed both fighters when they left the ring.

GOVERNOR SMITH TURNS BACK TO THE EAST

CONCENTRATES FINAL EFFORTS ON BIG ELECTORAL STATES

CLAIMS PLENTY OF MATERIAL UP HIS SLEEVE FOR FINAL DRIVE

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Oct. 20.—Governor Alfred E. Smith turned back toward his native east today to concentrate his final efforts in the big electoral states with plenty of campaign material up his sleeve for the final drive.

The democratic presidential nominee will wind up his national campaign just as he has wound up every state campaign, in a burst of activity.

Seven speeches are expected to be made in the last two weeks before election, probably in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Pittsburgh, Providence and Newark. It has long been a political adage in New York that Smith won his gubernatorial battles in the last two weeks before election. His friends say he will try the same tactics in this campaign and they foresee the development of some unexpected material which he believes will have a bearing on the national situation.

Smith is satisfied with the impression he has left in the west, and especially with the speech he delivered in the downtown Chicago armory last night on the theme: "The record of the present administration is a guarantee of what may be expected from the next," the text being taken from the republican platform. Smith played upon this text to emphasize what the farmers, the war veterans, those interested in prohibition, and the conservationists of water power resources might expect.

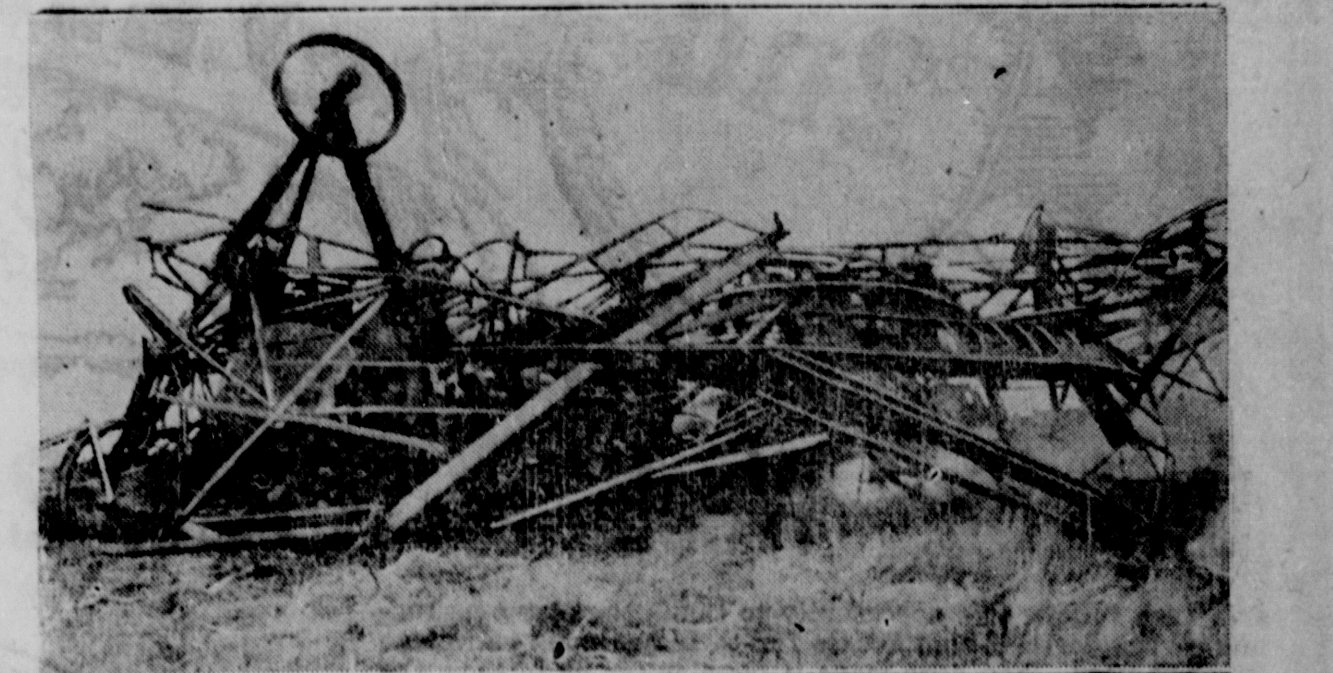

The nominee directed his fire particularly at Senator Borah of Idaho and Chairman Work of the republican national committee. He prodded Borah by resurrecting a speech the senator made in 1919 which Smith said amounted to an indictment of the ability, trustworthiness and efficiency of Herbert Hoover, the republican nominee.

Work was mentioned in connection with the recent decision of Attorney General Sargent nullifying the Salt Creek royalty oil lease of Harry F. Sinclair, the Teapot Dome oil magnate. Smith said Work had renewed the option on the lease and that "the only defense he thus far has offered is: 'I have no comment to make. Those things are past. People are tired of hearing of these oil leases.'"

"I'll go the doctor one better," said Smith. "I think they are not only tired but they are thoroughly and completely disgusted with them."

The governor is starting back in the best of spirits although his wife has been fatigued by the harrowing experiences of the second campaign tour. After denial of a rumor printed in a Chicago newspaper that she had collapsed, Mrs. Smith appeared on the platform with the governor last night, but did not appear to be her usual self.

STUDENT AVIATOR KILLED AFTER BREAKING RULES

Charred framework of airplane which crashed and took fire at Municipal Airport in Chicago, killing 19-year-old Raymond Ott of Prophetstown, Ill., who had broken airport rules for students by flying after noon. The plane fell in a flat spin from a height of 800 feet when Ott attempted to gain altitude too rapidly. A week previous his parents had visited him at the field and proudly watched him make his first solo flight.

The Old Master

By QUIN HALL
EVERY year a lot of raccoon-coated collegians and a lot of old fellows who went to college before raccoon coats became as popular as necking bees, and who knew football when there was no forward passing and when the goal posts were set flush with the end of the gridiron, start wondering about Rockne's Gang at Notre Dame.

Knute Rockne is responsible for a whole lot of the success of the Notre Dame football team, and he always comes out in the Fall with a gang of husky, two-fisted fighters who make life unpleasant for a long string of opponents. Notre Dame usually faces the hardest schedule of any team in the United States, and the fact that the boys carry footballs with them to their classes may be a legend, but then again, it may not be.

Rockne's success as a mentor has kept him in the limelight over a long spread of years and has mere mention of his name has been known to scare little boys on other college teams so that they would go scampering to bed, and not beg to stay up long after hours. Naturally many yarns have been spun about the famous coach. One, especially, had to do with a very husky young man who came to Notre Dame with the reputation of being quite a bully. He captained the streets of South Bend and his actions rather devastated the campus at Notre Dame and the campus at Notre Dame is one which, apparently, would be not easily devastated.

When the first call for candidates went out, the bully was one of the first to report. He continued his strutting until Rockne had to take a hand. A few words led up to an opportunity for Rockne to go into action. He grounded the bully with a well aimed sock and when he came back for more the dose was repeated. After that the bully lined up and made a great football player. This, too, may be one of those mythical yarns but it sounds like what Rockne would do under the circumstances. He's in no manner a rough citizen but he has his ways of getting results and he's held in the highest esteem by everyone with whom he comes in contact.

Prior to his coaching activities Rockne played end on the Notre Dame eleven and was noted as one of the best wing men ever developed at South Bend.

Every year Rockne says that Notre Dame has a schedule which calls for the team to meet opposition from every section of the United States. Times have changed since Rockne, himself, was an active player. He captained the Notre Dame eleven when it made its first Eastern invasion playing against West Point on a crisp Autumn afternoon early in November of 1913. That game, incidentally, opened the eyes of the Eastern football world to the possibilities of the forward pass. This play had been ignored by the Eastern universities, but when a quarterback named Dorais started to toss forward heaves from thirty-five to forty-five yards in length to an end named Rockne as he galloped down the field, the value of the play was realized. The following year it was quite popular throughout the East.

This year the Notre Dame season is already under way and the schedule will not be complete and the moleskin pants tucked away until after December 8, when the Fightin' Irish hook up with Southern California at Los Angeles, the team which held Rockne's gridironers to a one-point victory last year, when the final score was seven to six.

Rockne always has a fighting aggregation and this year will be no exception. Notre Dame may meet defeat, but it will have to be some team that turns the trick. Rockne isn't accustomed to traveling with a loser.

BRAINERD CRUSHES AITKIN, 18 TO 6 IN LAST HOME GAME

BRAINERD TEAM HAS BIG DAY, BRILLIANT END RUNS NET GAINS

GABIOU, WISE, SWANSON AND HALVORSON SHARE HONORS IN CONSISTENT GAINS

AITKIN USES LATERAL PASS TO ADVANTAGE, BOTH LINES WEAK AT TIMES

BRAINERD high school finished its home football season in a blaze of glory yesterday afternoon at South Sixth street field by outplaying Aitkin, crashing through for an 18 to 6 victory in a game that was featured by spectacular runs on the part of Gabiou, Wise, Swanson, and Halvorson.

The game afforded plenty of action for the three hundred fans present. Brainerd had its share of glory in completing forward passes that gained yardage and touchdowns. Aitkin presented a line plunge, end run, and lateral pass attack. Aitkin's forward passes were knocked down in the majority of attempts for no gains.

BRAINERD's line yesterday showed weakness, losing yards on three occasions on offense penalties. However on two plays near the Brainerd goal line the Aitkin charges found this line a brick wall but pushed over their only touchdown on fourth down after being held half a yard from the line on three plays.

The local backfield had a big day. Gabiou before he was taken out near the close of the first half with arm and leg injuries carried the ball and tackled in brilliant fashion. Beautiful running interference flashed all through yesterday's game as the locals time and again carried the ball for first downs into the enemy territory.

BRAINERD received Aitkin's kick and Gabiou carried the ball to Aitkin's 40 yard line. Swanson carried the ball around right end for four yards and Gabiou followed with an eight yard run making first down on Aitkin's 28 yard line. Gabiou carried the ball on two end runs and Swanson's run around right end brought the ball to within one yard of Aitkin's goal. On third down, Fuller plunged over the line for Brainerd's first touchdown within five minutes of play. The forward pass for point after touchdown failed.

After receiving the ball Aitkin brought the ball down to within one yard of the Brainerd line on line plunges, end runs, and lateral passes. The quarter ended with the ball one yard from the goal line and at the start of play again in the second quarter Richardson carried the ball over for Aitkin's only touchdown. The forward pass for point after touchdown failed.

BRAINERD's second touchdown came when Gabiou carried the ball over the Aitkin line after a beautiful run around right end for 20 yards. Kicking, Brainerd failed to make point after touchdown.

Wise carried the ball for a big gain as the whistle sounded for the half.

Lammon tallied for Brainerd after receiving a 15 yard forward pass thrown by Wise. The locals failed to make point after touchdown. Halvorson carried the ball on five occasions for 30 yards gain in the second half.

Hoffbauer sent in one minute before the game closed, celebrated by bringing the game to a spectacular finish. He picked the ball out of the air as it bounced off one of the Aitkin men's shoulders on a forward pass from Wise and carried it down to within one yard from the Aitkin goal line where he was downed as the whistle blew.

Yesterday's game showed that the reserves were ready to step in and do good work, demonstrating the result of constant practice.

Goedderz at right end played his last home game in spite of a sprained ankle. Larsen at right tackle played his usual steady game. Gabiou and Wise finished their careers on the local field by giving the fans a treat in watching end runs by their side stepping and twisting. However their runs were only made possible by the good interference of Dybvik, Swanson, Fuller and Halvorson.

George McCaffrey, Alex Nelson and Lein, substituted in the line. The three are seniors and were playing their last home game for Brainerd high.

The lineups:
Brainerd—Lammon, lc; Paine, lt; Abrahamson, lg; Haultala, c; Foster, rg; Larson, rt; Goedderz, rb; Gabiou, g; Dybvik, lb; Swanson, rbb; Fuller, fb; Substitutions, G. McCaffrey for Goedderz; Halvorson for Gabiou; A. Nelson for Foster; Lien for Abrahamson; Garvey for Larson; Hoffbauer for Lammon.

Aitkin—Stevens, lc; Johnson, lt; Hamey, lg; Radcliffe, c; Booker, rg; Laukkanen, rt; Bass, re; Nicander, Works.

g. W. Stevens, rbb; Skarbacke, lb; Richardson, fb.
Referee—Aimes, Little Falls.

FIGHT RESULTS

Denver, Oct. 20. — (UP)—Al Corbett, Cleveland lightweight, and Don Long, Colorado Springs, fought a 10-round draw.

New York, Oct. 20. — (UP)—Big Boy Peterson, 201, New Orleans, won on a foul from Paolino Uzcudun, 199½ Spain (2).

The following year it was quite popular throughout the East.

This year the Notre Dame season is already under way and the schedule will not be complete and the mole skin pants tucked away until after December 8, when the Fightin' Irish hook up with Southern California at Los Angeles. The team which held Rockne's gridironers to a one-point victory last year, when the final score was seven to six.

Rockne always has a fighting aggregation and this year will be no exception. Notre Dame may meet defeat, but it will have to be some team that turns the trick. Rockne isn't accustomed to traveling with a loser.

COUNCIL GRANTS BOLLIG PERMIT

Transportation Co. to Erect Warehouse to House and Unload Trucks

START WORK NEXT WEEK

W. C. Cobb Requests Permission to Use Old City Lockup for Laboratories

The city council at a special meeting last evening passed favorably on the request of J. N. Bollig for a permit to erect a concrete block building to be used to store, load and unload freight trucks of the Bollig Transportation Company.

The building will be located at the rear of the produce building next to the Tyrholm coal sheds on South Seventh streets. It will have a concrete floor, and will be one story with dimensions approximately 18 feet by 30 feet.

Construction of the new building will be started next week, material to start the work having been hauled to the site today.

W. C. Cobb, superintendent of Brainerd schools, appeared before the council requesting permission to use the old city lockup for laboratories for physics and chemistry classes of the Brainerd high school.

The council granted the request subject to the approval of the county board of commissioners.

Use of the building which is the property of the county was granted the city without rental charge a number of years back.

GETS JAIL SENTENCE

Albert Sauvageau Given 30 Days Without Option of Fine

Two different charges that of disorderly conduct and transportation of liquor to which he pleaded guilty brought sentences of 30 days in the city jail and a fine of $50 or 40 days to Albert Sauvageau in municipal court yesterday afternoon.

Sauvageau was given the 30 days without option of a fine on the disorderly conduct charge and the $50 fine or 40 days on the transportation charge.

On October 16 he entered a plea of guilty in municipal court to the charge of intoxication and was fined $10 or 10 days. At that time he was given a stay of sentence for two days to pay the fine. Before the two days were due he was picked up by police again on a complaint that he was being troublesome. At that time a bottle of moonshine liquor was found on his person. He has so far failed to pay the fines imposed on him.

Ray P. Chase Outlines Need of Route to West for Ocean Traffic

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS

Speaks of Nelson's Record; Lands Christianson Economy Program

Ray P. Chase, state auditor, in a talk at the U. C. T. auditorium last evening endorsed the platform of Herbert Hoover and urged support of the republican candidate on his stand on waterways which he said looms as the most important issue in the national campaign along with farm relief, to the people of the northwest.

He spoke of the benefits the northwest would derive from decreased rates in transportation of grains and produce via the Great Lakes ocean route, saying that it would mean an increase of from 10 to 15 cents a bushel on wheat to the farmers. The speaker pointed to Hoover as the logical man to bring about the realization of a deep waterways through the Great Lakes.

Mr. Chase spoke highly of the record of Arthur E. Nelson, republican candidate for U. S. senator from Minnesota and of the present Theodore Christianson administration of economy.

Andrew Anderson, chairman of the evening, spoke of the merits of Mr. Chase.

AULGERS TO SHOW NEW PLAY RELEASE

Present "Married and How" in Last Appearance of Season Here

MATINEE AND EVENING

"Sainly Hypocrites and Sinners" at Park Theatre Tonight

"Married and How," released two months ago on Broadway will be presented by the Augler Brothers Stock Co. for the first time at the Park theatre tomorrow matinee and evening.

The play will also close the Auglers season here after a week of successful plays. Tonight "Sainly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners" will be given.

Harrison Augler, star of the company stated today that the title "Married and How" was misleading in the respect that it was not a frivolous offering.

"Married and How" is I believe one of the best plays in years. It is serious and yet has a world of comedy in it," said Mr. Augler.

The play deals with the married life of a young rich man and an actress and the attempts of the youth's father to annul the marriage. An automobile accident has an important part in the solution of the plot. The young man is injured and is nursed back to life and love by his wife. His father is won over when he realizes the love which the two hold for each other.

BACKS HOOVER ON PROHIBITION STAND

Mrs. Josephine Sizer, State W. C. T. U. Head, Declares Prohibition a Success

COMPARES CONDITIONS

Believes Hoover Best Man to Carry Out Enforcement of Laws

Declaring prohibition successful Mrs. Josephine Sizer, state president of the W. C. T. U. in an address at the republican headquarters here Tuesday appealed to "all citizens desiring enforcement of our laws" to cast their vote for Herbert Hoover for president at the general election November 6.

"Prohibition is a success and we should not carry on the fake propaganda that it is not a success. The boys of the Mankato high school, indignant at the talk of so much drinking among our young people have formed a Students' Sobriety society, with a constitution and by-laws, containing a total abstinence pledge. They had 44 members to start with and intend to make it nation wide," said Mrs. Sizer.

Continuing she said: "There was home brew before prohibition but we hear more of it now. Places where children used to bring home brew in their school lunch they now bring milk, are better clothed, housed and fed. Common folks have cars now instead of grocery and saloon bills. Prohibition is the best method of those tried yet. The law is being enforced.

"Mr. Hoover is a very good man to enforce these laws and more to be depended on than his opponent to carry on. Our country must not go back.

"We need strong fearless men in office who are not afraid to give honest opinions on great questions. We must make and keep democracy safe for ourselves and the world. A good preparation before going to the ballot box is to read over the Declaration of Independence and the constitution of our nation."

Mrs. B. E. Gilmer Entertains

Mrs. B. E. Gilmer entertained ten friends with a four course dinner at her home, 1202 South Park street, last evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of Frank Gilmer. About ten friends were present and the evening was spent in a social way. Mr. Gilmer received a number of gifts.

Standard Bearer Girls

Standard Bearer girls will meet at the home of Mrs. Ben Evans, 621 Kingwood street, Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Please bring dues for passport.

KOSHER BUTCHER

SHOPS OF NEW YORK PROTEST HIGH COSTS

New York, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Half of the kosher butcher shops in New York closed yesterday because of a strike in protest against the prices of wholesale meat houses, which the kosher butchers contended were too high. The price of chucks was the direct cause of the closing of the shops.

A Toy Girls Will Like

A doll's bureau is not difficult when fashioned in the following manner: Take four or six of the "slip-in" boxes in which matches come. Either the pocket or household size may be used, according to the size of the doll. Pile the boxes lengthwise in two piles, so that the slip-in slides form two or three double tiers of drawers at the front. Then paste a piece of wall-paper or other heavy paper tightly around the whole (top, bottom and two long sides) to hold the boxes in position; paper the front of each drawer to match and sew a button on or push a thumb tack into the front of each drawer to serve as a handle.—Children, The Magazine for Parents.

Which Grandmother?

Betty was six, terribly proud of her age and of the fact that she was just beginning to learn to write. For fifteen minutes she had been laboriously making marks on a paper. Her mother inquired as to what she was doing. "Writing a letter to grandmother," was the response. "To which grandmother?" asked mother. "Well," said Betty, "which one of them do you think can read the best?"

Beaver Chases Bug

Leon Lapham, out fishing at Andover, Maine, made a cast in one of the pools and a big white miller skipped over the surface. Something large and black chased the miller, but visions of a giant red spot were shattered when he saw a good sized beaver following the line. Suddenly the beaver sighted the fisherman. There was a flap of the tail and instantaneously he was out of sight.

Organ of Sight

A layer of interlaced and matted nerves on the inside surface of the back part of the eyeball does the seeing. This is called the retina, which means network. The rest of the eye is a camera with a lens in front, like an ordinary photographic camera. It makes a picture on the retina like the picture on the back of the camera. The retina communicates this picture to the brain.

Maimed by Explosive

Hudson Maxim narrowly escaped death many times, and his left hand was blown off during his experiments with maxinite. In spite of his bent toward invention of war materials Hudson Maxim was an advocate of arbitration.

Maple Extracts Not

Accorded Due Praise

It may be that the imitations have contributed to prevent maple sugar and maple syrup from receiving those peans of praise which have been lavished on so many other old fashioned American foods. The famous French epicure, Brillat-Savarin, frequently extolled the gustatorial glories of the wild turkey. Even the lofty clam has been highly praised.

The maple extracts have been neglected except by those transplanted sons and daughters of New England and northern New York who knew the "genuine" article as they came fresh from the boiler in the forest. A surfeit of nearly equal and good food on the snow, produced a desire for a fatty like substance that had the special merits of endearment now found exclusively among "all-day suckers." A few reactionary Yankees still insist that hot cakes without the genuine unadulterated maple syrup or sugar (or both) are not fit for sensitive palates. Unfortunately the "real thing" is becoming scarce.—Kansas City Star

Charm of Simplicity

The best painters, as they progress in reputation and towards perfection, are found to dispense more and more with the technique of the art, for simpler methods. Simplicity never falls to charm.—Balzac

Gold in the Pavement

Louis XIV had one of the courts of the palace at Versailles paved with squares of silver, each of which recorded some triumph to the French arms. These surrounded a large tablet of gold, in the center of which the sun—the monarch's favorite emblem—was represented by a dazzling blaze of costly gems. Another court of this most sumptuous dwelling was paved with slabs of jasper, agate and other rare stones.

The city council at a special meeting last evening passed favorably on the request of J. N. Bollig for a permit to erect a concrete block building to be used to store, load and unload freight trucks of the Bollig Transportation Company.

The building will be located at the rear of the produce building next to the Tyrholm coal sheds on South Seventh streets. It will have a concrete floor, and will be one story with dimensions approximately 18 feet by 30 feet.

Construction of the new building will be started next week, material to start the work having been hauled to the site today.

W. C. Cobb, superintendent of Brainerd schools, appeared before the council requesting permission to use the old city lockup for laboratories for physics and chemistry classes of the Brainerd high school.

The council granted the request subject to the approval of the county board of commissioners.

Use of the building which is the property of the county was granted the city without rental charge a number of years back.

GETS JAIL SENTENCE

Albert Sauvageau Given 30 Days Without Option of Fine

Two different charges that of disorderly conduct and transportation of liquor to which he pleaded guilty brought sentences of 30 days in the city jail and a fine of $50 or 40 days to Albert Sauvageau in municipal court yesterday afternoon.

Sauvageau was given the 30 days without option of a fine on the disorderly count charge and the $50 fine or 40 days on the transportation charge.

On October 16 he entered a plea of guilty in municipal court to the charge of intoxication and was fined $10 or 10 days. At that time he was given a stay of sentence for two days to pay the fine. Before the two days were due he was picked up by police again on a complaint that he was being troublesome. At that time a bottle of moonshine liquor was found on his person. He has so far failed to pay the fines imposed on him.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS

Speaks of Nelson's Record; Lauds Christianson Economy Program

Ray P. Chase, state auditor, in a talk at the U. C. T. auditorium last evening endorsed the platform of Herbert Hoover and urged support of the republican candidate on his stand on waterways which he said looms as the most important issue in the national campaign along with farm relief, to the people of the northwest.

He spoke of the benefits the northwest would derive from decreased rates in transportation of grains and produce via the Great Lakes ocean route, saying that it would mean an increase of from 10 to 15 cents a bushel on wheat to the farmers.

The speaker pointed to Hoover as the logical man to bring about the realization of a deep waterways through the Great Lakes.

Mr. Chase spoke highly of the record of Arthur E. Nelson, republican candidate for U. S. senator from Minnesota and of the present Theodore Christianson administration of economy.

Andrew Anderson, chairman of the evening, spoke of the merits of Mr. Chase.

"Saintly Hypocrites and Sinners" at Park Theatre Tonight

"Married and How," released two months ago on Broadway will be presented by the Augler Brothers Stock Co. for the first time at the Park theatre tomorrow matinee and evening.

The play will also close the Auglers season here after a week of successful plays. Tonight "Saintly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners" will be given.

Harrison Augler, star of the company stated today that the title "Married and How" was misleading in the respect that it was not a frivolous offering.

"Married and How" is I believe one of the best plays in years. It is serious and yet has a world of comedy in it," said Mr. Augler.

The play deals with the married life of a young rich man and an actress and the attempts of the youth's father to annul the marriage. An automobile accident has an important part in the solution of the plot. The young man is injured and is nursed back to life and love by his wife. His father is won over when he realizes the love which the two hold for each other.

COMPARES CONDITIONS

Believes Hoover Best Man to Carry Out Enforcement of Laws

Declaring prohibition successful Mrs. Josephine Sizer, state president of the W. C. T. U. in an address at the republican headquarters here Tuesday appealed to "all citizens desiring enforcement of our laws" to cast their vote for Herbert Hoover for president at the general election November 6.

"Prohibition is a success and we should not carry on the fake propaganda that it is not a success. The boys of the Mankato high school, indignant at the talk of so much drinking among our young people have formed a Students' Sobriety society, with a constitution and by-laws, containing a total abstinence pledge. They had 44 members to start with and intend to make it nation wide," said Mrs. Sizer.

Continuing she said: "There was home brew before prohibition but we hear more of it now. Places where children used to bring home brew in their school lunch they now bring milk, are better clothed, housed and fed. Common folks have cars now instead of grocery and saloon bills. Prohibition is the best method of those tried yet. The law is being enforced.

"Mr. Hoover is a very good man to enforce these laws and more to be depended on than his opponent to carry on. Our country must not go back.

"We need strong fearless men in office who are not afraid to give honest opinions on great questions. We must make and keep democracy safe for ourselves and the world. A good preparation before going to the ballot box is to read over the Declaration of Independence and the constitution of our nation."

Maple Extracts Not Accorded Due Praise

It may be that the limitations have contributed to prevent maple sugar and maple syrup from receiving those praises of praise which have been lavished on so many other old fashioned American foods. The famous French epicure, Brillat-Savarin, frequently extolled the gustatorial glories of the wild turkey. Even the lowly clam has been highly praised.

The maple extracts have been neglected except by those transplanted sons and daughters of New England and northern New York who knew the "genuine" article as they came fresh from the boiler in the forest. A sauce of nearly equal value is poured on the snow, produced by a maple sap like substance that had the special merits of endearment now found exclusively among "all-day suckers." A few reactionary Yankees still insist that hot cakes without the genuine unadulterated maple syrup or sugar (or both) are not fit for sensitive palates. Unfortunately the "real thing" is becoming scarce.—Kansas City Star

Another court of this most sumptuous dwelling was paved with slabs of jasper, agate and other rare stones.

Broadway Love

by Thomas Edgefow

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

WHEN Fenimore Wilde, famous Broadway actor dies, his young and pretty daughter Janet obtains a job with John Montague, theatrical impresario, while her brother Frank, an idler, goes South. Janet makes friends with Leonard Quigg, a temperamental musician who loves her, and Dr. David Churchill. When Montague insults her Janet becomes Dr. Churchill's secretary. He tells her he is in love with her and wants to divorce his wife, so Janet gives up her position and goes to live with Chester Quigg, Leonard's artist uncle, and his little daughter, Alice. She learns how to placate old Mrs. Quigg, Chester's mother, and generally makes life pleasant for the Quiggs. Frank Wilde returns home and introduces Janet to Cora Niles, his sweetheart. John Montague dies, leaving $200,000 to Janet, and later she meets Wyndham Stonor, English playwright, who becomes interested in her. But Janet is falling in love with Leonard. Churchill operates on Alice Quigg for mastoiditis and calls on Janet at the studio after the operation. They are surprised by detectives hired by Mrs. Churchill, looking for divorce evidence. Since Janet is in negligee, and David has removed his coat to prepare supper, the detectives leave satisfied. Leonard tells Janet he is in love with her and they embrace.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLIII.

ON Sunday morning Janet came downstairs, her eyes shining, her heart tremulous with emotion when she thought of Leonard and the night before. She would not doubt, she told herself. She loved him, and love had no room for doubt. It was absurd, this distrust for the artist nature which was inherent in her. She liked artists, felt more at home with them, and yet where her heart was concerned, she drew back. But this must be changed, Leonard was different from all men. Therefore he was different from all artists.

But Leonard was not there. He had returned to New York. Why had he gone? Was it that he regretted the tenderness of the night before? All the girl's pride rose within her at this thought. Perhaps he felt that he had said too much. So doubt returned with increased power.

Janet spent a miserable Sunday and went to bed early. Leonard did not telephone, and she lay awake wondering. As she entered the breakfast room on Monday morning, Chester Quigg was reading a letter.

"Ha!" he yelled, pulling his beard.

"I suspect that Daddy has good news," Alice remarked quietly. "That noise denotes pleasure."

"Ha!" screamed Chester Quigg. "They had to come to me! At last they realize what they want."

Chester Quigg pulled out his wallet. It contained seven one-dollar bills and a ten. These he crumpled into a ball and placed beside his little daughter's plate.

"Get your heart's desire!" he bellowed. "We have all the money there is! Buy clothes and hats, anything you want."

It was fully five minutes before he was calm enough to announce what had happened. Meanwhile,

Alice was smoothing out the crumpled bills and replacing them in her father's wallet.

Then Janet learned that Chester Quigg's agent had written informing her of a contract offered by a huge motion picture concern. They wanted Quigg to go to Hollywood to supervise the preparation of sets for two spectacular pictures which they were about to film. The terms were princely, and what delighted him yet more was the fact that he believed he was to be allowed a free hand. So he shouted and yelled and took long-distance calls over the telephone, and was all for packing up and leaving immediately.

"It will be wonderful for your health, Heart-of-my-heart," Chester informed his daughter. "You and Janet will get as brown as berries."

"I can't go with you," Janet said regretfully. "I might join you later on—but not now."

"Oh Janet!" Alice's arms crept about Janet's neck.

"You mean this case?" Chester demanded anxiously.

"I'm not going to run away from it," Janet announced decidedly. "It would look—oh, you must see that!"

"But you'll come to us later?" Alice pleaded.

Janet did not know what she was going to do. She felt very much alone in the world. Chester and Alice were going to Hollywood. Frank and Cora would be in Detroit. Leonard? Well, she did not know.

"A bellowing and a screaming so that there's no rest and no peace!" a querulous old voice came from the door, as Mrs. Quigg hobbled into the room.

Chester began to tell his mother about Hollywood.

"You'll love it!" he assured her. "You'll regain your youth."

Inwardly, the old lady was delighted at the thought of the trip. So she announced steadfastly that she would not dream of going to California.

"Perhaps you could play grandmother parts," Alice put in cleverly.

"And I would play them much better than the stuff I see on the screen!" Mrs. Quigg sniffed aggressively. "Not that I'm going!" Whereupon, as soon as she had finished her breakfast, she went up to her room to begin secret preparations for packing.

And as moving picture magnates are always in a hurry, and as this haste suited Chester's natural temperament, the next few days were bustling ones. They closed the Cos Cob house, hoping to sublet for the rest of the season. Janet agreed to take over the New York studio.

On the day after her friends had left, Janet expected to hear from Leonard. But he did not telephone, and she was full of doubt.

In the afternoon she conquered her pride and telephoned to him, using as a pretext the fact that he had left some music in the studio.

"I'll come up and get it," he told her.

"I shall be in this afternoon," Janet answered.

"I can't this afternoon," he returned. "I have to see someone on business."

Janet felt a sense of irritation. "Well, please telephone before you come, as I am very busy these days," she replied rather coldly.

Unable to sit alone, that afternoon Janet went out to do some unnecessary shopping. She went downtown on top of a Fifth Avenue bus. She was idly watching the traffic when she caught sight of an open car, which was crawling uptown among the press of vehicles. Janet saw that Amy Churchill was in that car, and sitting by her, talking eagerly to her, was Leonard.

He did not see Janet, and at that moment the traffic increased in speed. Janet sat there on top of the bus, watching what Leonard was doing with that woman? It seemed as though Janet could not escape her or her influence. And why had Leonard not told her that he knew Amy Churchill?

Doubt and distrust entered with renewed force into Janet's consciousness. But, of course, Leonard was an artist, and as Janet knew, an artist is invariably influenced by beauty!

So, when on her return to the studio, Wyndham Stonor telephoned, Janet was much more cordial to him than she really felt. Would she have dinner with him? Janet had not seen him since that evening when they had encountered Amy, but just because she was feeling bitter and despondent she arranged to dine with him the following evening.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
LEGAL DEPARTMENT,
G. A. YOUNGQUIST,
Attorney General.

St. Paul, Minnesota, April 30, 1928.
HONORABLE MIKE HOLM,
Secretary of State:

In compliance with the provisions of section 46, General Statutes 1927, I furnish you herewith a statement of the purpose and effect of proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota which are to be submitted to the electors of the state at the general election in 1928, in accordance with certain acts adopted by the legislature at the 1927 session thereof.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 1.

By the adoption of chapter 445, Laws 1927, the legislature has proposed an amendment to section 3, article 9 of the constitution. This section now reads as follows:

"For the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures, the state may contract public debts, but such debts shall never exceed two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; every such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single purpose, to be distinctly specified therein; and no such law shall take effect until it shall have been passed by the vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch of the legislature, to be recorded by yeas and nays on the journals of each house respectively; and every such law shall levy a tax annually sufficient to pay the annual interest of such debt, and also a tax sufficient to pay the principal of such debt within ten years from the final passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of such taxes to the payment of such principal and interest; and such appropriation and taxes shall not be repealed, postponed, or diminished, until the principal and interest of such debt shall have been wholly paid. The state shall never contract any debts for works of internal improvement, or for the carrying on of such works, except as authorized by section 16 of Article 9, and by Article 16 of this Constitution; but it may, levy an excise tax upon any substance, material, fluid, force or other means or instrumentality, or the business of dealing in, selling or producing, or all thereof, used or useful, in producing or generating power for propelling motor or other vehicles used on the public highways of this state, and shall place the proceeds of such tax in the Trunk Highway Fund provided for in section 2 of said Article 16, and further except in cases where grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, especially dedicated by the grant to public purposes, and in such cases the state shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion."

If amended as proposed this section will read as follows:

"Section 5. For the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures, the state may contract public debts, but such debts shall never exceed two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; every such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single purpose, to be distinctly specified therein; and no such law shall take effect until it shall have been passed by the vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch of the legislature, to be recorded by yeas and nays on the journals of each house respectively; and every such law shall levy a tax annually sufficient to pay the annual interest of such debt, and also a tax sufficient to pay the principal of such debt within ten years from the final passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of such taxes to the payment of such principal and interest; and such appropriation and taxes shall not be repealed, postponed, or diminished, until the principal and interest of such debt shall have been wholly paid. The state shall never contract any debts for works of internal improvement, or for the carrying on of such works, except as authorized by section 16 of Article 9, and by Article 16 of this Constitution; but it may, levy an excise tax upon any substance, material, fluid, force or other means or instrumentality, or the business of dealing in, selling or producing, or all thereof, used or useful, in producing or generating power for propelling motor or other vehicles used on the public highways of this state, and shall place two-thirds of the proceeds of such tax in the Trunk Highway Fund provided for in section 2 of said Article 16, and one-third in the state road and bridge fund, and further except in cases where grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, especially dedicated by the grant to public purposes, and in such cases the state shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion."

The purpose of the proposed amendment is to place two-thirds of the proceeds of such tax in the trunk highway fund and one-third in the state road and bridge fund for lending aid, by the distribution of that fund among the counties of the state, in the construction and improvement of roads other than trunk highways.

The ballot used at the election should have printed thereon the following:

First:
DIVISION OF GASOLINE TAX
Amendment to section 5, article 9 of the Constitution (as amended), authorizing the state to place in the trunk highway fund two-thirds and in the state road and bridge fund one-third of any and all excise taxes levied and collected on the sale or use of selling or dealing in fluids used or which can be used for motor vehicle power purposes.

YES.....
NO.....
By the adoption of chapter 444, Laws 1927, the legislature has proposed an amendment to section 3, article 9 of the constitution. This section now reads as follows:

"Each stockholder in any corporation, excepting those organized for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing or mechanical business, shall be liable to the amount of stock held or owned by him." If amended as proposed, this section will read as follows:

"Section 3. The Legislature shall have power from time to time to limit, and otherwise regulate the liability of stockholders or members of corporations and co-operative corporations or associations, organized for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing or mechanical business, shall be liable to the amount of stock held or owned by him." The purpose of the proposed amendment is to authorize the legislature to prescribe and regulate by law the liability of stockholders or members in all corporations, including co-operative corporations or associations, however organized, except stockholders in corporations and joint stock associations organized for banking purposes which issue bank notes, as provided by section 13 of Article 9 of the Constitution. The effect of the proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to abrogate the present fixed rule of stockholders' liability prescribed by the Constitution, except in the case of stockholders in banks and joint associations specifically excepted from the entirely without the control of the legislature, subject to change from time to time as they may see fit.

Stockholders in banks of the kind provided for by section 13 of the Constitution are by that section made liable for the debts of such corporation or association up to an amount equal to double the amount of stock owned by them. Stockholders of this class are excepted from the operation of the proposed amendment. However, the only such banks provided for by section 13 are those banks provided for by section 13 of the proposed amendment but fall in the same class as stockholders in other corporations.

The ballot used at the election should have printed thereon the following:

Second:
LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS IN CORPORATIONS.
Amendment to section 3, Article 9 of the Constitution authorizing the legislature to prescribe and limit the liability of stockholders in corporations.

The purpose of the proposed amendment is to place two-thirds of the proceeds of such tax in the trunk highway fund and one-third in the state road and bridge fund for lending aid, by the distribution of that fund among the counties of the state, in the construction and improvement of roads other than trunk highways.

The Effect of the Proposed Amendment: If adopted, will be to place two-thirds of the proceeds of the gasoline tax in the trunk highway fund for the use of the trunk highway system, and one-third in the state road and bridge fund for lending aid, by the distribution of that fund among the counties of the state, in the construction and improvement of roads other than trunk highways.

By the adoption of chapter 444, Laws 1927, the legislature has proposed an amendment to section 3, article 9 of the constitution. This section now reads as follows:

"Each stockholder in any corporation, excepting those organized for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing or mechanical business, shall be liable to the amount of stock held or owned by him." If amended as proposed, this section will read as follows:

"Section 3. The Legislature shall have power from time to time to limit, and otherwise regulate the liability of stockholders or members of corporations and co-operative corporations or associations, organized for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing or mechanical business, shall be liable to the amount of stock held or owned by him." The purpose of the proposed amendment is to authorize the legislature to prescribe and regulate by law the liability of stockholders or members in all corporations, including co-operative corporations or associations, however organized, except stockholders in corporations and joint stock associations organized for banking purposes which issue bank notes, as provided by section 13 of Article 9 of the Constitution. The effect of the proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to abrogate the present fixed rule of stockholders' liability prescribed by the Constitution, except in the case of stockholders in banks and joint associations specifically excepted from the entirely without the control of the legislature, subject to change from time to time as they may see fit.

Stockholders in banks of the kind provided for by section 13 of the Constitution are by that section made liable for the debts of such corporation or association up to an amount equal to double the amount of stock owned by them. Stockholders of this class are excepted from the operation of the proposed amendment. However, the only such banks provided for by section 13 are those banks provided for by section 13 of the proposed amendment but fall in the same class as stockholders in other corporations.

The ballot used at the election should have printed thereon the following:

Second:

Broadway Love

by Thomas Edgefow

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

WHEN Fenimore Wilde, famous Broadway actor dies, his young and pretty daughter Janet obtains a job with John Montague, theatrical impresario, while her brother Frank, an idler, goes South. Janet makes friends with Leonard Quigg, a temperamental musician who loves her, and Dr. David Churchill, when Montague insults her Janet becomes Dr. Churchill's secretary. He tells her he is in love with her and wants to divorce his wife, so Janet gives up her position and goes to live with Chester Quigg, Leonard's artist uncle, and his little daughter, Alice. She learns how to placate old Mrs. Quigg, Chester's mother, and generally makes life pleasant for the Quiggs. Frank Wilde returns home and introduces Janet to Cora Niles, his sweetheart. John Montague dies, leaving $200,000 to Janet, and later she meets Wyndham Stonor, English playwright, who becomes interested in her. But Janet is falling in love with Leonard. Churchill operates on Alice Quigg for mastoiditis and calls on Janet at the studio after the operation. They are surprised by detectives hired by Mrs. Churchill, looking for divorce evidence. Since Janet is in negligence, and David has removed his coat to prepare supper, the detectives leave satisfied. Leonard tells Janet he is in love with her and they embrace.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLIII.

ON Sunday morning Janet came downstairs, her eyes shining, her heart tremulous with emotion when she thought of Leonard and the night before. She would not doubt, she told herself! She loved him, and love had no room for doubt. It was absurd, this distrust for the artist nature which was inherent in her. She liked artists, felt more at home with them, and yet where her heart was concerned, she drew back. But this must be changed. Leonard was different from all men. Therefore he was different from all artists.

But Leonard was not there. He had returned to New York. Why had he gone? Was it that he regretted the tenderness of the night before? All the girl's pride rose within her at this thought. Perhaps he felt that he had said too much. So doubt returned with increased power. Janet spent a miserable Sunday and went to bed early. Leonard did not telephone, and she lay awake wondering. As she entered the breakfast room on Monday morning, Chester Quigg was reading a letter.

"Ha!" he yelled, pulling his beard. "I suspect that Daddy has good news," Alice remarked quietly. "That noise denotes pleasure."

"Ha!" screamed Chester Quigg. "They had to come to me! At last they realize what they want." Chester Quigg pulled out his wallet. It contained seven one-dollar bills and a ten. These he crumpled into a ball and placed beside his little daughter's plate. "Get your heart's desire!" he bellowed. "We have all the money there is! Buy clothes and hats, anything you want."

It was fully five minutes before he was calm enough to announce what had happened. Meanwhile,

Alice was smoothing out the crumpled bills and replacing them in her father's wallet.

Then Janet learned that Chester Quigg's agent had written informing his client of a contract offered by a huge motion picture concern. They wanted Quigg to go to Hollywood to supervise the preparation of sets for two spectacular pictures which they were about to film. The terms were princely, and what delighted him yet more was the fact that he believed he was to be allowed a free hand. So he shouted and yelled and took long-distance calls over the telephone, and was all for packing up and leaving immediately.

"It will be wonderful for your health, Heart-of-my-heart," Chester informed his daughter. "You and Janet will get as brown as berries."

"I can't go with you," Janet said regretfully. "I might join you later on—but not now."

"Oh Janet!" Alice's arms crept about Janet's neck.

"You mean this case?" Chester demanded anxiously.

"I'm not going to run away from it," Janet announced decidedly. "It would look—oh, you must see that!"

"But you'll come to us later?" Alice pleaded.

Janet did not know what she was going to do. She felt very much alone in the world. Chester and Alice were going to Hollywood. Frank and Cora would be in Detroit. Leonard? Well, she did not know.

"A bellowing and a screaming so that there's no rest and no peace!" a querulous old voice came from the door, as Mrs. Quigg hobbled into the room.

Chester began to tell his mother about Hollywood.

"You'll love it!" he assured her. "You'll regain your youth."

Inwardly, the old lady was delighted at the thought of the trip. So she announced steadfastly that she would not dream of going to California.

"Perhaps you could play grand-mother parts," Alice put in cleverly.

"And I would play them much better than the stuff I see on the screen!" Mrs. Quigg sniffed aggressively. "Not that I'm going!" Whereupon, as soon as she had finished her breakfast, she went up to her room to begin secret preparations for packing.

And as moving picture magnates are always in a hurry, and as this haste suited Chester's natural temperament, the next few days were bustling ones. They closed the Cos Cob house, hoping to sublet for the rest of the season. Janet agreed to take over the New York studio.

On the day after her friends had left, Janet expected to hear from Leonard. But he did not telephone, and she was full of doubt.

In the afternoon she conquered her pride and telephoned to him, using as a pretext the fact that he had left some music in the studio.

"I'll come up and get it," he told her.

"I shall be in this afternoon," Janet answered.

"I can't this afternoon," he returned. "I have to see someone on business."

Janet felt a sense of irritation. "Well, please telephone before you come, as I am very busy these days," she replied rather coldly.

Unable to sit alone, that afternoon Janet went out to do some unnecessary shopping. She went downtown on top of a Fifth Avenue bus. She was idly watching the traffic when she caught sight of an open car, which was crawling uptown among the press of vehicles. Janet saw that Amy Churchill was in that car, and sitting by her, talking eagerly to her, was Leonard.

He did not see Janet, and at that moment the traffic increased in speed. Janet sat there on top of the bus. What was Leonard doing with that woman? It seemed as though Janet could not escape her or her influence. And why had Leonard not told her that he knew Amy Churchill?

Doubt and distrust entered with renewed force into Janet's consciousness. But, of course, Leonard was an artist, and as Janet knew, an artist is invariably influenced by beauty!

So, when on her return to the studio, Wyndham Stonor telephoned, Janet was much more cordial to him than she really felt. Would she have dinner with him? Janet had not seen him since that evening when they had encountered Amy, but just because she was feeling bitter and despondent she arranged to dine with him the following evening.

INDIRECTLY SAVES

LIFE OF A BOY

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Governor Alfred E. Smith indirectly saved the life of a boy here.

James J. Burlate, 7, Thursday night was struck by an automobile. The wheels passed over his chest and stomach.

The driver, Felix Thornton, put the unconscious child in his car and took him to St. Joseph's hospital.

Hospital attendants immediately started unstrapping the boy to find how many of his ribs and internal organs had been crushed. They took his blouse off first, and with the blouse came twenty thick cardboard placards bearing the picture of Gov. Smith.

The campaign posters had protected James from shoulder to hip and, after a close examination, only a few bruises were found on his stomach.

Today, it was announced at the hospital, the boy was fully recovered.

Attorney General.

St. Paul, Minnesota, April 30, 1928.

HONORABLE MIKE HOLM,

Secretary of State:

In compliance with the provisions of section 46, General Statutes 1923, I furnish you herewith a statement of the purpose and effect of proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota which are to be submitted to the electors of the state at the general election in 1928, in accordance with certain acts adopted by the legislature at the 1927 session thereof.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 1.

By the adoption of chapter 445, Laws 1927, the legislature has proposed an amendment to section 5 article 9 of the constitution. This section now reads as follows:

"For the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures, the state may contract public debts, but such debts shall never, in the aggregate, exceed two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; every such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single object, to be distinctly specified therein; and no such law shall take effect until it shall have been passed by the vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch of the legislature, to be recorded by yeas and nays on the journals of each house respectively; and every such law shall levy a tax annually sufficient to pay the annual interest of such debt, and also a tax sufficient to pay the principal of such debt within ten years from the final passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of such taxes to the payment of such principal and interest; and such appropriation and taxes shall not be repealed, postponed, or diminished, until the principal and interest of such debt shall have been wholly paid. The state shall never contract any debts for the purpose of internal improvements, or be a party in carrying on such works, except as authorized by section 16 of Article 9, and by Article 16 of this Constitution; but it may levy an excise tax upon any substance, material, fluid, force or other means or instrumentalities, or the business of dealing in, selling or producing any or all thereof, used or useful, in producing or generating power for propelling motor or other vehicles used on the public highways of this state, and shall place the proceeds of such tax in the Trunk Highway Fund provided for in section 2 of said Article 16, and further except in cases where grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, specially dedicated by the grant to specific purposes, and in such cases the state shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion."

If amended as proposed this section will read as follows:

"Section 5. For the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures, the state may contract public debts, but such debts shall never, in the aggregate, exceed two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; every such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single object, to be distinctly specified therein; and no such law shall take effect until it shall have been passed by the vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch of the legislature, to be recorded by yeas and nays on the journals of each house respectively; and every such law shall levy a tax annually sufficient to pay the annual interest of such debt, and also a tax sufficient to pay the principal of such debt within ten years from the final passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of such taxes to the payment of such principal and interest; and such appropriation and taxes shall not be repealed, postponed, or diminished, until the principal and interest of such debt shall have been wholly paid. The state shall never contract any debts for the purpose of internal improvements, or be a party in carrying on such works, except as authorized by section 16 of Article 9, and by Article 16 of this Constitution; but it may levy an excise tax upon any substance, material, fluid, force or other means or instrumentalities, or the business of dealing in, selling or producing any or all thereof, used or useful, in producing or generating power for propelling motor or other vehicles used on the public highways of this state, and shall place the proceeds of such tax in the Trunk Highway Fund provided for in section 2 of said Article 16, and further except in cases where grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, specially dedicated by the grant to specific purposes, and in such cases the state shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion."

The Purpose of the Proposed Amendment: The entire proceeds of the gasoline tax are now placed in the trunk highway fund for use on the trunk highway system. The purpose of the proposed amendment is to place two-thirds of the proceeds of such tax in the trunk highway fund and one-third in the state road and bridge fund.

The effect of the proposed amendment: If adopted, will be to place two-thirds of the proceeds of the gasoline tax in the trunk highway fund for the use of the trunk highway system, and one-third in the state road and bridge fund for lending aid, by the distribution of that fund among the counties of the state, in the construction and improvement of roads other than trunk highways.

DIVISION OF GASOLINE TAX

Amendment to section 5 of article 9 of the Constitution (as amended), authorizing the state to place in the trunk highway fund two-thirds and in the state road and bridge fund one-third of any and all excise taxes levied and collected on the business of selling or dealing in fluids used or which can be used for motor vehicle power purposes.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 2

By the adoption of chapter 444, Laws 1927, the legislature has proposed an amendment to section 3, Article 10 of the Constitution relating to corporations. This section now reads as follows:

"Each stockholder in any corporation, excepting those organized for the purpose of manufacturing or mechanical business, shall be liable to the amount of stock he or she owned by him or her, if amended as proposed, this section will read as follows:

"Section 3. The legislature shall have power from time to time to provide for, limit and otherwise regulate the liability of stockholders or members of corporations and co-operative corporations or associations, however organized. Provided nothing in this section shall be construed as repealing or in any manner affecting the liability of stockholders in banks or corporations organized for banking purposes as provided in section 13 of Article 9 of the Constitution of the State of Minnesota."

The Purpose of the Proposed Amendment: The constitution, as it now stands, makes every stockholder in any corporation, excepting those organized for the purpose of carrying on a manufacturing or mechanical business, liable for the debts of the corporation, if the corporate assets are insufficient to pay the debts, up to an amount equal to the par value of the stock held or owned by him, in addition to any sum that he may owe the corporation and account of his stock. The purpose of the proposed amendment is to authorize the legislature to prescribe and regulate by law the liability of stockholders in all corporations, including co-operative corporations or associations, however organized, except stockholders in corporations and joint associations organized for banking purposes which issue bank notes, as provided by section 13 of Article 9 of the Constitution. The effect of this exception is explained in the next following paragraphs.

The effect of the proposed amendment: If adopted, will be to abrogate the present fixed rule of stockholders' liability prescribed by the Constitution, except in the case of stockholders in banks which issue bank notes, and to place the matter of prescribing and regulating the liability of stockholders in all corporations, co-operative corporations or associations created under the laws of this state (except those banking corporations and joint associations specifically excepted) entirely within the control of the legislature, subject to change from time to time as they may see fit.

Stockholders in banks of the kind provided for by section 13 of Article 9 of the Constitution are by that section made liable for the debts of such corporation or association to an amount equal to double the amount of stock owned by them. Stockholders of this class are excepted from the operation of the proposed amendment. However, the only banks provided for by section 13 are those that issue bank notes. There are none such in this state. Hence, stockholders in state banks are not within the exception of the proposed amendment but fall in the same class as stockholders in other corporations.

The ballot used at the election should have printed thereon the following:

LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS IN CORPORATIONS.

The Wrath of a Boss

On October 17, 1913, by a vote of 43 to 12, the Court of Impeachment voted to remove William Sulzer from the office of governor of the State of New York. It was the first time in the history of the state that a governor has ever been impeached, and its most powerful lesson was the power of a Tammany Boss's wrath.—M. R. Werner in Tammany Hall.

The Purpose of the Proposed Amendment: The entire proceeds of the gasoline tax are now placed in the trunk highway fund for use on the trunk highway system. The purpose of the proposed amendment is to place two-thirds of the proceeds of such tax in the trunk highway fund and one-third in the state road and bridge fund.

The effect of the proposed amendment: If adopted, will be to place two-thirds of the proceeds of the gasoline tax in the trunk highway fund for the use of the trunk highway system, and one-third in the state road and bridge fund for lending aid, by the distribution of that fund among the counties of the state, in the construction and improvement of roads other than trunk highways.

The ballot used at the election should have printed thereon the following:

DIVISION OF GASOLINE TAX

Amendment to section 5 of article 9 of the Constitution (as amended), authorizing the state to place in the trunk highway fund two-thirds and in the state road and bridge fund one-third of any and all excise taxes levied and collected on the business of selling or dealing in fluids used or which can be used for motor vehicle power purposes.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 2

By the adoption of chapter 444, Laws 1927, the legislature has proposed an amendment to section 3, Article 10 of the Constitution relating to corporations. This section now reads as follows:

"Each stockholder in any corporation, excepting those organized for the purpose of manufacturing or mechanical business, shall be liable to the amount of stock he or she owned by him or her, if amended as proposed, this section will read as follows:

"Section 3. The legislature shall have power from time to time to provide for, limit and otherwise regulate the liability of stockholders or members of corporations and co-operative corporations or associations, however organized. Provided nothing in this section shall be construed as repealing or in any manner affecting the liability of stockholders in banks or corporations organized for banking purposes as provided in section 13 of Article 9 of the Constitution of the State of Minnesota."

The Purpose of the Proposed Amendment: The constitution, as it now stands, makes every stockholder in any corporation, excepting those organized for the purpose of carrying on a manufacturing or mechanical business, liable for the debts of the corporation, if the corporate assets are insufficient to pay the debts, up to an amount equal to the par value of the stock held or owned by him, in addition to any sum that he may owe the corporation and account of his stock. The purpose of the proposed amendment is to authorize the legislature to prescribe and regulate by law the liability of stockholders in all corporations, including co-operative corporations or associations, however organized, except stockholders in corporations and joint associations organized for banking purposes which issue bank notes, as provided by section 13 of Article 9 of the Constitution. The effect of this exception is explained in the next following paragraphs.

The effect of the proposed amendment: If adopted, will be to abrogate the present fixed rule of stockholders' liability prescribed by the Constitution, except in the case of stockholders in banks which issue bank notes, and to place the matter of prescribing and regulating the liability of stockholders in all corporations, co-operative corporations or associations created under the laws of this state (except those banking corporations and joint associations specifically excepted) entirely within the control of the legislature, subject to change from time to time as they may see fit.

Stockholders in banks of the kind provided for by section 13 of Article 9 of the Constitution are by that section made liable for the debts of such corporation or association to an amount equal to double the amount of stock owned by them. Stockholders of this class are excepted from the operation of the proposed amendment. However, the only banks provided for by section 13 are those that issue bank notes. There are none such in this state. Hence, stockholders in state banks are not within the exception of the proposed amendment but fall in the same class as stockholders in other corporations.

The ballot used at the election should have printed thereon the following:

LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS IN CORPORATIONS.

Amendment to section 3, Article 10, of the Constitution, authorizing the legislature to prescribe and limit the liability of stockholders in corporations.

Merely a Ratification

Herbert Hoover's popularity is growing at a rate that forebodes another Republican tidal wave in November. Mr. Hoover's quiet dignity and reserve and lack of political bombast has already won for him the confidence of the nation. The election will be merely in the nature of a ratification.—Lynn L. Item.

Women Are Partners

More than ten million women march to work every morning side by side with the men. Steadily the importance of women is gaining not only in the routine tasks of industry, but in executive responsibility. I include also the woman who stays at home as the guardian of the welfare of the family. She is a partner in the job and the wages.—HERBERT HOOVER in his Newark speech.

CHURCH HISTORY IS PROOF OF POWER OF FAITH AND SACRIFICE

From Small Beginnings, Under Adverse Circumstances, Congregation Worked Steadily Toward Goal of Accomplishment

Now Crowns the Efforts of Christian Men and Women Through a Period of Nearly 40 Years, From Small Hall to Beautiful Church

The origin of the First Presbyterian church of Brainerd leads back to the days of 1889, when a Sunday school was organized on February 3 of that year. A blizzard was raging in the city and the snow was piled high in drifts everywhere, but five people braved the storm, and met with Robert F. Sulzer, state superintendent of Sabbath school work, in the Gardner hall on South Sixth street, for the purpose of organizing a Sabbath school. The building then housing the hall stands just north of the present Palace hotel.

The organization was not completed until the next Sunday, February 10. There were 13 persons present. The following officers were elected:

Superintendent, James Best.
Assistant Superintendent, Mrs. Andrew J. Veon.

Secretary, Miss Elizabeth Atkinson, now Mrs. H. R. White. Miss Atkinson did not serve and Tracy Veon was elected. He served until October 1, 1889. Miss Emma Brown was elected and has been in continuous service to date. Four classes were organized with Mr. Best, Miss Marie Crandell, Mrs. T. Crawford, and Miss Maggie Best as teachers. Among the class members were Miss Lottie White (Mrs. Louis Hohman), Miss Laura Veon and others.

A few weeks later two young men, Rev. C. G. Miller and Rev. Latimer were sent to this field. Rev. Miller was a graduate of McCormick Seminary.

The Sunday school continued to flourish. On April 28, 1889, Rev. C. G. Miller preached his first sermon.

On June 14, 1889, the First Presbyterian church of Brainerd was organized by Dr. R. N. Adams with ten members, six by letter and four by professions of faith. The charter members were:

By letter—James Best, Mr. and Mrs. James McCormister, Miss Marie Crandell, Mrs. Sherman, Miss Mary Hume.

By profession of faith—Miss Emma Brown (Mrs. Fred Luken), Mrs. Jane Wager, Mrs. J. H. Gibson, Miss Hattie Gibson (Mrs. Booth).

Miss Gibson was the first person baptized in the church.

Mr. Best was elected Elder and served on the session until his death in January, 1895.

On October 10, 1889, this little organization moved into the Y. M. C. A. building.

About October 27 steps were taken for raising money for a church building and a manse. Lots 80 by 100 feet were secured on South Broadway near Norwood from John Willis for the consideration of $560. One hundred and thirty-six dollars of the amount was contributed by the Second Presbyterian church of Duluth.

The building of the church meant consecrated toil on the part of the pastor and his small number of helpers.

On November 24, 1889, the Christian Endeavor society was organized with W. C. Duthie as president. Mr. Duthie later removed to Tacoma, Wash., and passed away about a year and a half ago.

On December 4, 1889, Rev. C. G. Miller was duly installed pastor. Dr. R. N. Adams preached the sermon. Rev. F. M. Finley gave the charge to the people and Rev. G. A. Brandt gave the charge to the pastor.

Rev. Miller is now associate secretary of the Board of Temperance of Ohio and Indiana.

On November 14, W. C. Duthie, Mrs. Dora Chadwick, Mrs. J. A. McColl, Mr. and Mrs. William Johnstone (parents of W. A. M. Johnstone), Mrs. C. G. Miller, Miss Jean Risk (Mrs. Wm. P. Bartsch), Miss Jennie Risk (Mrs. Fratcher), became members of the church.

William Johnstone was elected Elder.

The church building was completed in the summer of 1890. H. C. Miller (who later removed to Staples) was the contractor.

The first service was held in the new church September 13, 1890.

Rev. C. G. Miller was pastor until May 29, 1891.

The Junior Christian Endeavor society was organized January 1, 1897. There were 27 active members and 32 trial members. The officers were: Superintendent, Mrs. Fred Luken. Assistant Superintendent, Miss M. Louise White (Mrs. C. D. McKay).

On March 31, 1898, the three lots on South Broadway and Norwood streets were purchased from I. T. Dean for the sum of $450. Twenty feet from the west side of these lots were sold to C. A. Walker for $100.

During the 39 years the church has had ten pastors:

First Presbyterian Church of Brainerd

REV. JOHN E. BUSHNELL, D. D.

Rev. John E. Bushnell, D. D., is pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Minneapolis. He came to this church about 30 years ago. It is one of the largest and most influential Presbyterian churches in the country. It has a large staff of workers in its organization. It carries one of the heaviest budgets of the churches.

He has served on the most important church committees in the Presbyterian denomination. He is acknowledged to be one of the most powerful preachers in the country and his striking personality carries conviction.

Rev. A. G. Patterson was his first assistant when he came to Westminster church. This Sunday was, Dr. Bushnell's regular engagement to speak over the radio and he cancelled this, as well as leaving his own large and influential congregation in Minneapolis, to deliver the dedicatory sermon at Brainerd.

This is not Dr. Bushnell's first appearance in Brainerd, as he delivered a high school commencement address here some years ago. Those who heard him then, will be glad to avail themselves of the privilege of hearing him the second time, and many who have made his acquaintance on the radio will be glad to meet him personally.

When on Sunday morning the pastor, church officials, congregation receive the keys to the edifice and with their friends enter the church, all will be pleased with the structure, whose exterior and interior are alike pleasing.

The First Presbyterian church is of a Gothic type of architecture. The plans for the same were originally made by A. G. Lamont, superintendent of architecture of the Presbyterian board of national missions. The building committee and J. E. Jackson, superintendent of construction, used these basic plans and Sunday, October 21, is to be the greatest day in the history of the First Presbyterian church of Brainerd. It is the day to which the congregation has been looking forward for more than a year, for it will see the completion, the fruition of their work and sacrifice in the dedication of the new church.

The formal dedicatory service will be impressive and will be largely attended. The morning sermon will be delivered by Rev. W. R. Harshaw, D. D., of Minneapolis. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the dedicatory sermon will be delivered by Rev. John E. Bushnell, of Westminster church, Minneapolis. The evening sermon will be delivered by Rev. W. J. Lowrie of Windom.

Monday evening will be devoted to a fellowship meeting to which the whole community is invited in a social way. Responses will be made by Rev. J. R. Michaelson, president of the Ministerial Association and pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran church; and Mayor Frank E. Little. The address of the evening will be given by Gov. Theodore Christianson.

Tuesday evening Nell Shaughnessy in charge of religious work at the Union City Mission, Minneapolis, will give the address to the men of the community. A. C. Erickson will deliver the welcoming address and R. R. Gould the response.

Wednesday evening Rev. Bruce McCullough of Minneapolis will give the address to the teachers and officers of the Sunday school and the young people of the community. Miss Helen Marie Stadlbauer will give the welcome and Carl Zapffe the response.

Thursday evening Mrs. E. L. Carpenter of Minneapolis will address the women of the community. Mrs. Robert Falconer will give the welcome and Mrs. E. P. Slipp the response.

The program in detail is given on different pages of this issue.

Cloquet furnished the balsam wool sound deadener in floors and was bought through the Standard Lumber Company.

The American Seating Company of Minneapolis supplied the pews.

The storm glass came from Forman, Ford & Co. of Minneapolis.

The art glass came from the Weston & Leighton studio of Minneapolis, who are located at 445 Sexton building. Very few stained glass studios are conducted in the same manner as that of this firm. Both Mr. Weston and Mr. Leighton are designers and painters of stained glass windows and the work is done by themselves. They do not limit themselves to supervision. They thus bring to each commission the results of mature training and years of actual practical experience. Each has had 28 years of experience and they have made a first-hand study of stained glass in the old cathedrals and churches of Europe and have applied the knowledge obtained through actual observation of this wonderful glass to their own individual work.

Fine specimens of the work of these artists are to be seen in the Emmanuel Lutheran and the Bethlehem Lutheran churches at Minneapolis, St. Luke's church at St. Paul, the new church at Olivia and many other churches throughout the northwest. The great window of the Grand Island Cathedral is 20 feet wide and 27 feet high. The story of the window is based on the Magnificat.

Kampmann & Son furnished the millwork. This includes frames, doors, sash, all interior woodwork, beam covers, ceiling panel mold, stairwork, chancel stairs, etc. Kampmann & Son have been in the manufacturing business the past 12 years and have established a reputation for fine workmanship and successful carrying out of all contracts entrusted to them. In the past they have completed millwork contracts for the Book-Cadillac Hotel at De-

The use of the corkboard in the church has attracted attention. The roof insulation is Armstrong's two inch corkboard, 12 inches wide and 36 inches long, which is nailed to the underside of the rafters. Corkboard will keep out the summer heat and also insulate against the cold, making it easier to heat the church in a minimum amount of time. The roof insulation is exposed and paneled, thus serving two purposes, one as an insulator and the other as acoustical correction. The dark brown colored corkboard is an added decorative effect. Sound control is assured by corkoustic corkboard.

The entire lobby, main church and chancel is floored with Armstrong's half inch thick cork tile flooring laid 6 by 6 inch tiles over rosin sized paper on top of wood sub-floor. The mottled colors of the tile is an added tone to the color scheme. Cork tile is resilient, non-slippery and quiet under foot.

Corkboard, corkoustic and cork tile is manufactured by the Armstrong Cork & Insulation Company of Minneapolis from corkwood taken from oak trees grown on the Spanish peninsula, southern France and Morocco. Cork has been used for hundreds of years and is frequently mentioned in the Holy Bible as being used for fishermen's nets, as sandals for Roman women, etc.

First Presbyterian Church of Brainerd

REV. JOHN E. BUSHNELL, D. D.

Rev. John E. Bushnell, D. D., is pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Minneapolis. He came to this church about 30 years ago. It is one of the largest and most influential Presbyterian churches in the country. It has a large staff of workers in its organization. It carries one of the heaviest budgets of the churches.

He has served on the most important church committees in the Presbyterian denomination. He is acknowledged to be one of the most powerful preachers in the country and his striking personality carries conviction.

Rev. A. G. Patterson was his first assistant when he came to Westminster church. This Sunday was, Dr. Bushnell's regular engagement to speak over the radio and he cancelled this, as well as leaving his own large and influential congregation in Minneapolis, to deliver the dedicatory sermon at Brainerd.

This is not Dr. Bushnell's first appearance in Brainerd, as he delivered a high school commencement address here some years ago. Those who heard him then, will be glad to avail themselves of the privilege of hearing him the second time, and many who have made his acquaintance on the radio will be glad to meet him personally.

When on Sunday morning the pastor, church officials, congregation receive the keys to the edifice and with their friends enter the church, all will be pleased with the structure, whose exterior and interior are alike pleasing.

The First Presbyterian church is of a Gothic type of architecture. The plans for the same were originally made by A. G. Lamont, superintendent of architecture of the Presbyterian board of national missions. The building committee and J. E. Jackson, superintendent of construction, used these basic plans and modified and changed them to suit local needs of the congregation. This first unit of the church, which was completed October 20, 1928, measures 69 feet in length and 42 feet in width, with a height of 75 feet. The tower is 52 feet in height.

The church entrance faces east on South Broadway. Broad cement steps, flanked with iron railings, lead to the vestibule in the tower. The vestibule measures 14 by 14 feet and has a ceiling of 14 feet.

The auditorium of the church measures 40 by 65 feet and the height to the peak of the roof is 36 feet. The pulpit platform is 19 feet wide and 12 feet deep. On the east side is the pastor's study and on the west side the choir room, each approximately 16 by 12 feet in size. There are outside entrances to these rooms.

A stairway leads from the tower to the basement and at the ground grade there is another entrance.

The basement is notable in construction for by the use of three steel I beams the presence of any pillars was eliminated. These beams

Formal Dedication on Sunday, October 21, to be Followed by Programs Covering Many Different Branches of Church Work

GOV. THEODORE CHRISTIANSON

Sunday, October 21, is to be the greatest day in the history of the First Presbyterian church of Brainerd. It is the day to which the congregation has been looking forward for more than a year, for it will see the completion, the fruition of their work and sacrifice in the dedication of the new church.

The formal dedicatory service will be impressive and will be largely attended. The morning sermon will be delivered by Rev. W. R. Harshaw, D. D., of Minneapolis. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the dedicatory sermon will be delivered by Rev. John E. Bushnell, of Westminster church, Minneapolis. The evening sermon will be delivered by Rev. W. J. Lowrie of Windom.

Monday evening will be devoted to a fellowship meeting to which the whole community is invited in a social way. Responses will be made by Rev. J. R. Michaelson, president of the Ministerial Association and pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran church; and Mayor Frank E. Little. The address of the evening will be given by Gov. Theodore Christianson.

Tuesday evening Nell Shaughnessy in charge of religious work at the Union City Mission, Minneapolis, will give the address to the men of the community. A. C. Erickson will deliver the welcoming address and R. R. Gould the response.

Wednesday evening Rev. Bruce McCullough of Minneapolis will give the address to the teachers and officers of the Sunday school and the young people of the community. Miss Helen Marie Stadbauer will give the welcome and Carl Zapffe the response.

Thursday evening Mrs. E. L. Carpenter of Minneapolis will address the women of the community. Mrs. Robert Falconer will give the welcome and Mrs. E. P. Slipp the response.

The program in detail is given on different pages of this issue.

Cloquet furnished the balsam wool sound deader in floors and was bought through the Standard Lumber Company.

The American Seating Company of Minneapolis supplied the pews.

The storm glass came from Forman, Ford & Co. of Minneapolis.

The art glass came from the Weston & Leighton studio of Minneapolis, who are located at 445 Sexton building. Very few stained glass studios are conducted in the same manner as that of this firm. Both Mr. Weston and Mr. Leighton are designers and painters of stained glass windows and the work is done by themselves. They do not limit themselves to supervision. They thus bring to each commission the results of mature training and years of actual practical experience. Each has had 28 years of experience and they have made a first-hand study of stained glass in the old cathedrals and churches of Europe and have applied the knowledge obtained through actual observation of this wonderful glass to their own individual work.

Fine specimens of the work of these artists are to be seen in the Emmanuel Lutheran and the Bethlehem Lutheran churches at Minneapolis. St. Luke's church at St. Paul, the new church at Olivia and many other churches throughout the northwest. The great window of the Grand Island Cathedral is 20 feet wide and 27 feet high. The story of the window is based on the Magnificat.

Kampmann & Son furnished the millwork. This includes frames, doors, sash, all interior woodwork, beam covers, ceiling panel mold, stairwork, chancel stairs, etc. Kampmann & Son have been in the manufacturing business the past 12 years and have established a reputation for fine workmanship and successful carrying out of all contracts entrusted to them. In the past they have completed millwork contracts for the Book-Cadillac Hotel at De-

BRIEF MENTION OF CONTRACTORS WHO SUPPLIED LABOR, MATERIAL FOR BUILDING

ALL GAVE ENTIRE SATISFACTION TO PRESBYTERIAN BUILDING COMMITTEE

It will be of general interest to know something concerning the many men and firms participating in the construction of the First Presbyterian church. Looking at the completed church, it is difficult to realize that it is the work of many hands, that its parts were ordered from many sources, and assembled skillfully.

J. E. Jackson supervised construction. He has had wide experience as a contractor and brought to bear all his experience and talent to make the structure perfectly satisfactory and it has been so attested by the building committee.

The bricks were furnished by the Twin City Brick Company of St. Paul. The design and color are most pleasing and have gained wide commendation.

Building material was furnished by the three lumber yards of Brainerd, the Standard Lumber Company, Lampert Brothers Lumber Company and the Hayes-Lucas Lumber Company. Their products gave the highest satisfaction, were of the highest quality and as an integral part of the structure contributed to its beauty as well as substantial strength.

The use of the corkboard in the church has attracted attention. The roof insulation is Armstrong's two inch corkboard, 12 inches wide and 36 inches long, which is nailed to the underside of the rafters. Corkboard will keep out the summer heat and also insulate against the cold, making it easier to heat the church in a minimum amount of time. The roof insulation is exposed and paneled, thus serving two purposes, one as an insulator and the other as acoustical correction. The dark brown colored corkboard is an added decorative effect. Sound control is assured by corkoustic corkboard.

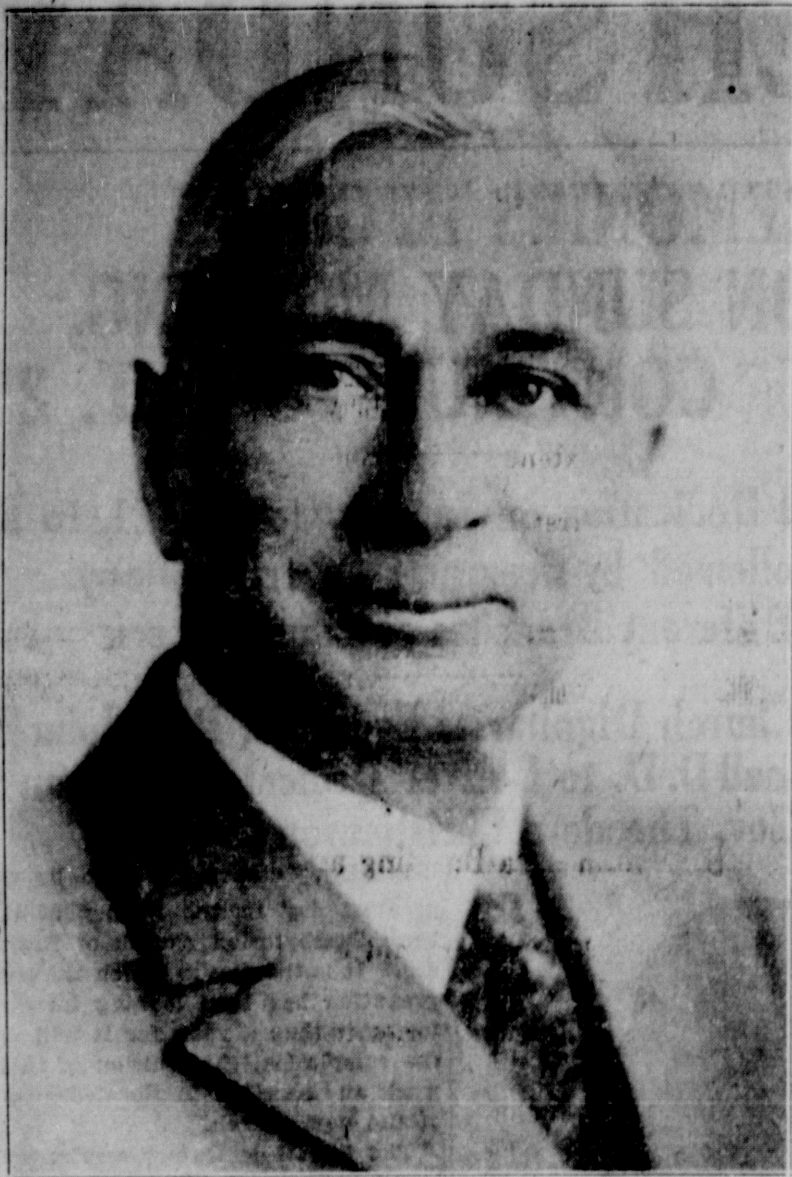

The entire lobby, main church and chancel is floored with Armstrong's half inch thick cork tile flooring laid 6 by 6 inch tiles over sub-floor. The mottled colors of the tile is an added tone to the color scheme. Cork tile is resilient, non-slippery and quiet under foot.

Corkboard, corkoustic and cork tile is manufactured by the Armstrong Cork & Insulation Company of Minneapolis from corkwood taken from oak trees grown on the Spanish peninsula, southern France and Morocco. Cork has been used for hundreds of years and is frequently mentioned in the Holy Bible as being used for fishermen's nets, as sandals for Roman women, etc.

LOCAL CHURCH THRIVING

During His Pastorate Church Doubles Membership, Finances in Wholesome Condition

A versatile pastor is Rev. A. G. Patterson of the First Presbyterian church, energetic, optimistic, sunny-minded, cheerful and a tower of strength. As a pulpit orator he has gained fame. As an organizer he has added further fame. And as a skilled executive, assisting in the manifold work of the various church organizations including the supreme task of building up church spiritual welfare, structure, membership and finances, he has again manifested his influence.

Rev. A. G. Patterson was born in Westfield, Lawrence county, Pennsylvania. It was a country community in which the church was the center of all activities. He can remember, as a youngster, hearing that bell ring an hour before the service. It reached the countryside in a radius of eight miles. Every family in that community attended church somewhere, the most of them the Westfield Presbyterian church.

His parents attended this church and were much devoted to it and daily exemplified its teachings in their life. Such devotion inspired the family later to place a window in the new church that is to be dedicated. Later the family removed to Canfield, Ohio. Rev. Patterson graduated from the Canfield Normal College which took the place of a high school in those days.

After three years as a teacher, Rev. Patterson went to Wooster College in Ohio, entering the college as a sophomore and completing the course in three years and receiving the degree of B. A.

Thinking it of some advantage for a midwest student to go to an eastern university, the following spring he graduated from Princeton university receiving the degree of B. A. That fall he went to McCormick Seminary in Chicago, taking the three years course and graduating. Before graduation an invitation was extended to come to Minneapolis and be Dr. J. E. Bushnell's first assistant in the Westminster Presbyterian church. After more than two years he resigned to accept the pastorate of Hope Chapel, Minneapolis. His next charge was as pastor of Christ Church, Presbyterian, in Chicago. From there he was called to become the first pastor of the newly organized church, Aldrich Avenue Presbyterian church of Minneapolis.

While pastor there he visited Scotland and spent some time in a Seminary at Glasgow. Following that he visited Ireland, England, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany and France. While in Norway and Sweden he had the privilege of an interview with King Haakon and King Gustaf.

When pastor of Hope Chapel he married Miss Frances Seaborn of Minneapolis.

After a year or two at the Aldrich Avenue church, it was enlarged and it grew so rapidly it was ready for a new church, the congregation having purchased two additional lots. The war came on and with a ban on building. At this time he was called to Austin, Minn., to be pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, which he served for about six years.

His next charge was Brainerd's First Presbyterian church. Since coming here the church has practically doubled its membership. The finances are in a wholesome condition. It has maintained its quota in benevolences and all the organizations that are usually found in a church are flourishing. After he had been here three years the congregation began to talk about building a new church of which they were very much in need. The congregation soon became united in their thought of building a church and work was begun on the new building June 6, 1927.

Before that date a campaign had been made to raise funds to which such a generous response was made by the congregation and its friends that the people were encouraged to proceed immediately.

COMMITTEE GAINS HIGHEST PRAISE

Functioned Well, Held 67 Meetings,
Considering Matters of Church
Construction

Each Member of the Committee
Gives Freely of Time, Services, and Experience

At the annual congregational meeting of the church held in April, 1926, a temporary building committee was named consisting of George W. Hess, J. E. Jackson, Mrs. A. M. Opsahl, Mrs. Robert E. Falconer and Earle W. Jenkins, to plan the building of a new church and make report to the congregation.

This committee organized by electing George W. Hess, chairman, and Earle W. Jenkins secretary. It was the committee's first duty to plan a rough sketch of the plan and type of building that the congregation was able to finance. Frequent meetings were held and the type of building was formulated that the committee decided would answer the need of the congregation. They then submitted this idea to A. G. Lamont, superintendent of architecture of the national board of the Presbyterian church in New York City.

After months of correspondence the architect arrived at a plan that suited the committee. It then became the duty of the committee to present this plan together with an estimate of the cost to the congregation.

The committee decided that the best way to present this plan to the congregation was to have a slide made showing the floor plan, and the general appearance of the exterior of the building when completed. This momentous meeting was held on December 16, 1926 at which time the slides were shown and report made on the estimated cost of building. The slides were explained by Mr. Jackson.

The congregation accepted this plan and made the temporary building committee permanent and authorized them to proceed with the building of the church. It then became the duty of the building committee to formulate plans for financing the building. The committee worked on this phase of the problem and launched their campaign for finances in April, 1927.

The congregation responded splendidly in their support. The Ladies Aid pledged $5,000. After the canvassing all the members of the congregation, the business people of the city were called on who also gave splendid support. Interest in construction of the church was not confined to Brainerd, for two Minneapolis business men gave substantial donations.

During the construction of the building the committee made five trips to the Twin Cities to view churches recently built and those in course of construction in order to gain data on brick, heating, plumbing, types of flooring, roofing, stained glass windows, etc., making all these investigations at their own expense.

The committee worked on the theory that the best way to view brick was to see them in a building. The best way to decide on a floor was to see the material installed in a building. The best way to view shingles was to see them on a roof. This method also applied to stained glass windows.

The building committee has held 67 regular meetings and in addition has had numerous conferences on the ground. Each member has freely given of his time, services and experience.

Their functions will not cease with the dedication for the members will continue to aid in financing until the church debt is liquidated.

To aid the committee in its work they named Mrs. Fred Luken as financial secretary and M. E. Morrison as treasurer.

At the annual congregational meeting of the church held in April, 1926, a temporary building committee was named consisting of George W. Hess, J. E. Jackson, Mrs. A. M. Opsahl, Mrs. Robert E. Falconer and Earle W. Jenkins, to plan the building of a new church and make report to the congregation.

This committee organized by electing George W. Hess, chairman, and Earle W. Jenkins secretary. It was the committee's first duty to plan a rough sketch of the plan and type of building that the congregation was able to finance. Frequent meetings were held and the type of building was formulated that the committee decided would answer the need of the congregation. They then submitted this idea to A. G. Lamont, superintendent of architecture of the national board of the Presbyterian church in New York City.

HEARTY CONGRATULATIONS

SOME one has said you can judge a city by the care it takes of its churches, schools and cemeteries.

History proves conclusively that the church precedes the schools and all other organizations for the uplift of humanity. Religion furnishes the deepest influences in life and inspires a large measure of devotion, culture and ideals in service.

Wherever you go, in hamlet, village, city or countryside, you will find somewhere a church. The little white church in the country has been the forerunner of the magnificent, ecclesiastical type of architecture in church buildings all over the country.

Dr. Robert E. Speere has said that more money is put into church buildings in the United States today than has been put into heathen temples in all past ages. This proves quite conclusively that the human heart longs for the things of God.

In neighborhoods of wealth and of poverty it is still a provider of spiritual and religious wealth. It has inspired the building of many better things such as schools, churches, hospitals, homes for the poor and orphanages for children.

A community where churches prosper is one where commercial and industrial endeavors prosper too. A writer has well said that a community which is ambitious to be at its best and do the most for its people very often builds religious and educational institutions when immediate material things would scarcely warrant the expenditure. It is found to be a good investment to go just a little farther than it seems one can afford when it comes to things that concern the mind and the soul.

The throng of tourists who visit Brainerd every summer must be much gratified when they find churches of their denomination in which they can worship God in a spirit of holiness. The casual visitor in our lake country oftentimes becomes a permanent summer resident and as such is attracted by the church life of the city.

Schools and other institutions alike have a high drawing power in inducing people to visit or settle here.

It is with a feeling of some interest that people of Brainerd in general have observed the building activity on the part of the First Presbyterian church congregation.

What has most impressed people has been the spirit of the congregation. Though tacitly admitting the need of a new church for some years, it was not until about two years ago that the desire of the congregation crystallized into decision to build a church edifice. And once that decision was made, unanimously, they have exemplified an indomitable courage and tenacity in bringing into realization their new building.

The spirit grasped every man, woman, boy and girl in the congregation. And when they got well under way they found a most hearty response in the city, community and even from people at a distance which encouraged them in a material way in their progress.

Things considered obstacles at other times faded away like dew before the morning sun. The interest in the progress of the work from the cutting down of the trees on the lot and clearing the site for building down to the setting in the pews in the finished church has been a matter of deep concern not only to the congregation, but to their many friends, and each step in progress has been a real thrill to all concerned.

The dedication of the new, beautiful and commodious church edifice of the First Presbyterian congregation is at this time responsible for these thoughts. The congregation, the pastor, the officers of the church, and also the community as a whole, deserve the heartiest congratulations on this achievement.

Struggling along for many years under the handicap of insufficient room and equipment, the congregation has nevertheless grown in numbers and usefulness, until today it is housed in one of the finest churches in this section. It is a story of united effort, of a faith that has known no discouragement nor obstacle in carrying on.

The Brainerd Dispatch has been a very close observer of the consecration, sacrifice and cooperation that has been interwoven in all materials going into the church.

We have felt the impression that it has made upon our city. We know an impetus has been given to private and civic improvements that will maintain in years to come.

In picture and story the Brainerd Dispatch today gives a record of the achievements of the congregation. The history of the church and its various organizations, the pictures and announcements, all breathe a story of real devotion.

The Brainerd Dispatch takes real pleasure in joining with others in extending congratulations and best wishes at this time of the formal dedication of the church building.

The Westminster Guild

The Westminster Guild Chapter of the First Presbyterian church was organized six years ago with Miss Georgia Brown as president. It is composed of the young women of the congregation.

Its purpose is the study of missions both foreign and national. Meetings are held the first and third Wednesday of the month in the homes of members. At the meetings a devotional period, study, work and social time is carried on.

In devotional periods such themes as "Minor Characters of the New Testament" were studied. The study last year was "The Making of a Nation," a study of the Philippines.

The work carried on was the making of Christmas boxes for the Mesaba Range Parish, Alice Lee Elliott Academy and the Barber Memorial School.

Many special social events as Halloween, Christmas and birthday parties were held.

Intermediate Senior Christian Endeavor Society

The Intermediate Senior Christian Endeavor society of the church consists of young people between the ages of 13 and 17. The society meets Sunday evenings for regular services. Study classes are held each year. These classes are held once a week, usually on Thursdays at which time about 30 young people gather at the supper hour and after enjoying a supper together take up the study of some missionary book. Two books are studied each year.

These young people help support schools among the Indians, colored people, mountaineers and others in this country as well as in China, India, Japan, Persia and other foreign countries. Among these schools are the Brainerd Institute at Chester, S. C., for colored people and the Sheldon Jackson School at Sitka, Alaska.

NEIL SHAUGHNESSY

Neil Shaughnessy united with the Aldrich Avenue Presbyterian church of Minneapolis, when Rev. A. G. Patterson was pastor. He entered into the church work with such zeal that it attracted the attention of others and he was called to many places to assist in services.

When the World War came on, Mr. Shaughnessy early enlisted and went overseas and was with the A. E. F. for a number of months. He saw active service before the armistice was signed and afterwards remained in service for some time.

Upon his return he was invited to become Religious Director in the Union City Mission, The Gateway, Minneapolis. Mr. Shaughnessy has been there about ten years and has been so successful that he is recognized as being one of the leading mission workers in the country. He frequently leaves Minneapolis to go to other great cities to forward the work of the missions there.

Mr. Shaughnessy has occupied the pulpit in the First Presbyterian church several times and always to the great delight and profit of the congregation.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY

Presbyterian Church Celebrates Its 35th Anniversary With Special Services

CANDLE, FLAG DECORATIONS
Teachers and Officers of School Enjoyed Banquet Tuesday Evening at Harrison Hotel

(From Brainerd Daily Dispatch of February 16, 1924)

The thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of Presbyterian Sunday school was celebrated last Sunday evening by a beautiful candle service at the church at seven o'clock. The church was decorated with candles and flags as befitting the service and patriotic week. On the rostrum was a large birthday cake decorated with thirty-five candles. Just opposite it was the mission box surrounded with candles.

After the singing of America one member from each of the twelve Sunday school classes went forward and had his candle lighted from the superintendent's large one, while he repeated a scripture verse suitable to the theme of receiving the Light of Life from Christ and shedding it abroad in the world. Then the primary pupils sang, "Jesus Bids Us Shine," and all joined in the refrain of "Brighten the Corner Where You Are."

An address of welcome to the six charter members present was given by Helen Paine. Mrs. L. Hohman gave the response. An interesting summary of the history of the school was given by Mrs. Luken, beginning with its organization with five members on a very stormy day in February, and tracing on through the banner year, 1915, in which there was a membership of 376 and an average attendance of 202.

Four primary girls gave a salute to the American and Christian flags and won the admiration of all in their dignified march through the aisles. The church quartet contributed a stirring anthem, "Send Out Thy Light," then candles were given to everyone present and after they had been lighted the school sang, "The Light of the World is Jesus."

In taking the contribution for missionary work all were asked to file in line past the mission box, and the coins dropped merrily in a continuous stream. An announcement later of an offering of $35.05 brought exclamations of delight. Rev. Patterson gave a brief address on the significance of the anniversary service. After the benediction each member of the school received a piece of the birthday cake—a pleasing final touch to an enjoyable service.

Banquet Tuesday Evening
In commemoration of the same event, the teachers and officers of the Sunday school, the officers of the church, and the charter members of the school held a banquet Tuesday evening at the Harrison Hotel. The charter members were Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Purdy, Mrs. Berrisford, Mr.

Chas. Risk, Mrs. Luken, Mrs. Greger and Mrs. Hohman.

The tables were decorated in patriotic colors in honor of Lincoln's birthday. In the center was the large birthday cake inclosed in a circle of red, white and blue candles. The place cards had a little upright flag at each end, thus adding much in a decorative way.

The program given covered the work of the Sunday school as follows:

The Cradle Roll—Mrs. Maistrom.
The Beginners—Mrs. Varner.
The Primary Department—Miss Jessie Evans.

The Juniors—Mrs. Strout.

The Men's Class—Rev. Patterson.

The second part of the program took up the development of the S. S. Mrs. Hohman told of the beginnings thirty-five years ago in Gardner's hall on Sixth street, where they used orange boxes and planks for seats. Mrs. Luken spoke on the past and each of the charter members was asked for a word on their impressions from that school. Many of the faithful workers in those early days were gratefully and affectionately remembered. Mrs. Risk, who is the present superintendent, dwelt on the present with its opportunities and needs, requesting the loyal support of all in this most important work. She took up the work ten weeks ago and in that time the attendance has increased from 72 to 144. The future was indicated by Miss Caughey as follows:

"As we peer intently into the future can you not see, on a Sunday morning twenty-five years hence, the advancing column of Sunday school pupils. In the lead are—not the little folks, but the adult classes of men and women, the boys and girls of today who have found in their Sunday school classes a strength fellowship and inspiration that they are not willing to relinquish. Following closely come the young people, greater in number, fresher in enthusiasm, and stronger in purpose. Just a look into their faces assures us of a positive response to the appeal 'Whom shall I send, and who will go for me?' Pressing behind them are the juniors and seniors, looking inquiringly to know the meaning of it all, but glad they are in it. In successive steps come the children until the tiny tots, shining in their innocence, end a procession five hundred strong."

"As they disappear we look to see where—into the new church, one worthy of our admiration. We follow them into the Sunday school rooms. 'Here are the adult classes,' we are told. 'These are the junior and senior rooms.' 'This is the primary department.' We look about enraptured, yet dazed, and would inquire how it all came about; but we can discern the answer to our own question: through a spirit of unity in putting Christ first; through a spirit of harmony that works for the good of all and overcomes selfish pride, conceit, or prejudice; through a spirit of prayer as expressed in 1st John, 'This is the confidence that we have in Him, that if we ask anything according to His will He heareth us, and if we know He heareth us, we know we have the petitions that we desired of Him'; and through the spirit of faith, believing that God is working for His eternal purposes." NEIL SHAUGHNESSY

Neil Shaughnessy united with the Aldrich Avenue Presbyterian church of Minneapolis, when Rev. A. G. Patterson was pastor. He entered into the church work with such zeal that it attracted the attention of others and he was called to many places to assist in services.

When the World War came on, Mr. Shaughnessy early enlisted and went overseas and was with the A. E. F. for a number of months. He saw active service before the armistice was signed and afterwards remained in service for some time.

Upon his return he was invited to become Religious Director in the Union City Mission, The Gateway, Minneapolis. Mr. Shaughnessy has been there about ten years and has been so successful that he is recognized as being one of the leading mission workers in the country. He frequently leaves Minneapolis to go to other great cities to forward the work of the missions there.

Mr. Shaughnessy has occupied the pulpit in the First Presbyterian church several times and always to the great delight and profit of the congregation.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY

Presbyterian Church Celebrates Its 35th Anniversary With Special Services

CANDLE, FLAG DECORATIONS

Teachers and Officers of School Enjoyed Banquet Tuesday Evening at Harrison Hotel

(From Brainerd Daily Dispatch of February 16, 1924)

The thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of Presbyterian Sunday school was celebrated last Sunday evening by a beautiful candle service at the church at seven o'clock. The church was decorated with candles and flags as befitting the service and patriotic week. On the rostrum was a large birthday cake decorated with thirty-five candles. Just opposite it was the mission box surrounded with candles.

After the singing of America one member from each of the twelve Sunday school classes went forward and had his candle lighted from the superintendent's large one, while he repeated a scripture verse suitable to the theme of receiving the Light of Life from Christ and shedding it abroad in the world. Then the primary pupils sang, "Jesus Bids Us Shine," and all joined in the refrain of "Brighten the Corner Where You Are."

An address of welcome to the six charter members present was given by Helen Paine. Mrs. L. Hohman gave the response. An interesting summary of the history of the school was given by Mrs. Luken, beginning with its organization with five members on a very stormy day in February, and tracing on through the banner year, 1915, in which there was a membership of 376 and an average attendance of 202.

Four primary girls gave a salute to the American and Christian flags and won the admiration of all in their dignified march through the aisles. The church quartet contributed a stirring anthem, "Send Out Thy Light," then candles were given to everyone present and after they had been lighted the school sang, "The Light of the World is Jesus."

In taking the contribution for missionary work all were asked to file in line past the mission box, and the coins dropped merrily in a continuous stream. An announcement later of an offering of $35.05 brought exclamations of delight. Rev. Patterson gave a brief address on the significance of the anniversary service. After the benediction each member of the school received a piece of the birthday cake—a pleasing final touch to an enjoyable service.

Banquet Tuesday Evening

In commemoration of the same event, the teachers and officers of the Sunday school, the officers of the church, and the charter members of the school held a banquet Tuesday evening at the Harrison Hotel. The charter members were Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Purdy, Mrs. Berrisford, Mr.

Chas. Risk, Mrs. Luken, Mrs. Creger and Mrs. Hohman.

The tables were decorated in patriotic colors in honor of Lincoln's birthday. In the center was the large birthday cake inclosed in a circle of red, white and blue candles. The place cards had a little upright flag at each end, thus adding much in a decorative way.

The program given covered the work of the Sunday school as follows:

The Cradle Roll—Mrs. Maistrom.
The Beginners—Mrs. Varner.
The Primary Department—Miss Jessie Evans.

The Juniors—Mrs. Strout.
The Men's Class—Rev. Patterson.

REV. WILLARD S. WARD

Rev. Willard S. Ward, of Minneapolis, is assistant superintendent of the Synod of Minnesota. He is clerk of the Synod and gives much of his time to the Presbytery of Red River, in which the city of Brainerd is located. His work is organizing new churches and strengthening the weaker churches and giving counsel to all that need him.

He had accepted the invitation to preach Sunday evening, but serious illness makes it impossible for him to fulfill his engagement. He feels it very keenly that he cannot be in Brainerd tomorrow.

He took part in the laying of the cornerstone and preached on that occasion. He also preached the sermon at the dedication of the South Long Lake Presbyterian church a year ago.

In the absence of Rev. Ward, Rev. W. J. Lowrie, of Winlock, Minn., a former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Brainerd, will preach the Sunday evening sermon.

lowed by Mrs. Fred Luken, charter member of the church, who turned over the second shovelful. Mrs. Luken is secretary of the Sunday school and financial secretary of the church. She was presented with the shovel after the ceremony. The shovel was donated by Oscar Erickson.

Excavation for the new church started the morning of June 7, 1927.

Laying of Cornerstone

The cornerstone laying ceremonies took place on Sunday, September 11, 1927. The order of exercises was carried out by the pastor, Rev. A. G. Patterson, assisted by Rev. Willard S. Ward of Minneapolis, assistant superintendent of National Missions of the Synod of Minnesota.

The preliminary remarks and the Scripture was read by the pastor, R. G. Jenkins, accompanied on the piano by Miss Effie Drexler, sang "My Task." The song was followed by an address by Rev. Ward. His remarks were of a congratulatory nature, commending the people for their loyalty and devotion in bringing the building so far and encouraging them to like efforts until the building is completed. The pastor dwelt on the spiritual significance of the event.

"This cornerstone is today and always will be the main stone of the building. All others will be around it and be relative in importance. This cornerstone and building are symbolic. The real cornerstone and building are spiritual. Christ is the cornerstone of the Spiritual Temple. All his people are the living stones around him. Together they make the great temple of God. That temple is eternal," he said.

Here the consecration hymn was sung. The most intense moment was when the copper box was placed in the stone. The box carries into the future these articles: a Bible, a key to the old church, some old coins, the names of the building committee and their officers and the officers of the church, the historical sketch of the church, a roll of the membership and The Brainerd Daily Dispatch of September 8, 1927, which carries a fine story of the event. It was a dramatic moment when J. E. Jackson, superintendent of construction of the new church, took the box and placed it in the stone, sealing it with a trowel and mortar. A very impressive moment was when C. D. McKay read the historic record of the church. The record had been prepared by Mrs. Fred Luken, who is one of the charter members of the church and is thoroughly conversant with every incident in connection with it.

The sketch closed with these significant words: "The desire of this church is to serve God and do His will and to this end we commit ourselves to Him in thanksgiving for the past mercies and blessings and prayer for their continuance. Whatever the future may hold in store for us as a church or as a people, we acknowledge our Christ who is the head and cornerstone."

Mr. McKay, who has also been a member of the church from the early years of its organization, was able to read it with such feeling that it reached every heart. The prayer of the dedication was offered by Mr. Ward.

The cornerstone was a gift of A. E. Erickson's Sunday school class of boys. After the services the congregation availed themselves of the opportunity of looking over the new church. The morning was one of the happiest in the life of the church.

firm also does a large hardware business and handles many other lines.

The Kellogg Mackey Company of Minneapolis supplied the O. E. heat and Pierce-American magazine feed boilers, as well as plumbing and heating supplies. Edgar M. Olson is their local traveling representative.

The Brainerd Hardware Company furnished hardware of excellent quality for the church to the satisfaction of the building committee.

The Brainerd Electric Company furnished electrical goods of high standard. The Brainerd Foundry executed its commissions entrusted them with dispatch and fine workmanship. Over 30 men are now employed by the foundry which now occupies a quarter of a block area near South Tenth and Quince streets with convenient trackage for unloading supplies and loading its products. The main foundry is 100 feet in size and to it is attached a two-story machine and finishing room measuring 20 by 100 feet in size. The furnace room measures 26 by 30 feet. The pattern department occupies space 20 by 80 feet. Tin ingots are shipped in from New York and England, brass ingots from Chicago, also babbit and lead from the latter supply point.

The Brainerd Foundry uses as high as four or five carloads of brass, tin, copper, babbit and lead in a month. An oil distillate is used in the brass furnace and coke in the cupolas and pit fires. Shipments of brass and iron castings are made to all parts of the United States and into Canada. The foundry at Brainerd is larger than the industry at Fargo, N. D. The Brainerd firm draws business from a large territory. Modern machinery is installed here and the days of tamping molds by hand and back-breaking labor is done away with. The tamper is air-driven and does a better job under expert guidance and handles bigger jobs than under the old system of manual labor.

Plastering was done satisfactorily by L. W. Thabes. Excavating and hauling was done by Charles Durham, who is of the most reliable nature. Gravel, sand and excavating was also furnished by Seymore Roberts, whose work gave the utmost satisfaction.

The Sheffield Brick & Tile Co. of Sheffield, Iowa, furnished Heatch cube tile. Rich-McFarlane Cut Stone Co. of Minneapolis furnished the stone cross. The St. Paul Corrugating Co. of St. Paul supplied the eave troughs and galvanized sheet metal work. Frank P. White of Minneapolis supplied the mastertex for cast stone and miniwax for the concrete floor.

The C. W. Olson Manufacturing Company of Minneapolis supplied the iron railing and thresholds. This company is well known as engineers and fabricators of structural steel, etc. The St. Paul Foundry of St. Paul supplied steel beams, etc.

The Asbestos Shingle, Slate and Sheathing Company of Minneapolis supplied the Ambler asbestos shingles producing a substantial roof and one that is a source of great satisfaction and beauty because of its variegated colors which match so splendidly with the brickwork.

The Kelly Studio of Brainerd photographed the church exterior and groups of building committee, elders and other officials of the church. The Kelly Studio has been established three years and has built up a fine clientele. Portrait work and commercial work are executed with dispatch and most artistically.

The pastorate of Rev. D. D. McKay from 1895 to 1898 was a notable one, for during his term the church became self-supporting. The mortgage on the old church building was burned and the ceremonies were held at the church. Mrs. Archie Purdy applied the match to the document.

A remarkable occurrence was the day when lightning struck the church. A social was in progress and the church was crowded. The bolt struck the belfry, passed down and through the church and out of a back window. The shock stunned a number of people on the sidewalk and a woman serving refreshments at a table in the church had her feet burned.

Breaking Ground for New Church

The first official steps towards the actual construction of the new $25,000 unit of the First Presbyterian church of Brainerd was undertaken on Monday evening, June 6, 1927, when the "breaking ground" ceremonies were conducted.

Three hundred people witnessed the exercises which were held under the direction of the pastor, Rev. A. G. Patterson. Progress was outlined by George Hess, chairman of the building committee.

Mrs. A. Purdy, one of the oldest members of the church, had the distinction of turning over the first shovel on the grounds. She was followed by Mrs. Fred Luken, charter member of the church, who turned over the second shovelful. Mrs. Luken is secretary of the Sunday school and financial secretary of the church. She was presented with the shovel after the ceremony. The shovel was donated by Oscar Erickson.

tin, copper, babbitt and lead in a month. An oil distillate is used in the brass furnace and coke in the cupolas and pit fires. Shipments of brass and iron castings are made, to all parts of the United States and into Canada. The foundry at Brainerd is larger than the industry at Fargo, N. D. The Brainerd firm draws business from a large territory. Modern machinery is installed here and the days of tamping molds by hand and back-breaking labor is done away with. The tamper is air-driven and does a better job under expert guidance and handles bigger jobs than under the old system of manual labor.

Plastering was done satisfactorily by L. W. Thabes. Excavating and hauling was done by Charles Durham, who is of the most reliable nature. Gravel, sand and excavating was also furnished by Seymour Roberts, whose work gave the utmost satisfaction.

The Sheffield Brick & Tile Co. of Sheffield, Iowa, furnished Heath cube tile. Rich-McFarlane Cut Stone Co. of Minneapolis furnished the stone cross. The St. Paul Corrugating Co. of St. Paul supplied the eave troughs and galvanized sheet metal work. Frank P. White of Minneapolis supplied the mastertex for cast stone and miniwax for the concrete floor.

The C. W. Olson Manufacturing Company of Minneapolis supplied the iron railing and thresholds. This company is well known as engineers and fabricators of structural steel, etc. The St. Paul Foundry of St. Paul supplied steel beams, etc.

The Asbestos Shingle, Slate and Sheathing Company of Minneapolis supplied the Ambler asbestos shingles producing a substantial roof and one that is a source of great satisfaction and beauty because of its variegated colors which match so splendidly with the brickwork.

The Kelly Studio of Brainerd photographed the church exterior and groups of building committee, elders and other officials of the church. The Kelly Studio has been established three years and has built up a fine clientele. Portrait work and commercial work are executed with dispatch and most artistically.

The Brainerd Hardware Company furnished hardware of excellent quality for the church to the satisfaction of the building committee.

PRESBYTERIANISM INFLUENCES HISTORY

William E. Gladstone Said It Developed a Genuine Individuality, Orderly Habits

SENSE OF COMMON LIFE

The Love of Law Which is Combined With the Love of Freedom, Said Statesman

The influence of Presbyterianism William E. Gladstone depicted as follows: "It has given the advantages which in civil order belong to local self-government and representative institutions; orderly habits of mind; the development of a genuine individuality; the sense of a common life and the disposition energetically to defend it; the love of law combined with the love of freedom."

Green, in his "History of the English People" says: "It is in Calvinism that the modern world strikes its roots, for it was Calvinism that first revealed the worth and dignity of man. Called of God and heir of heaven, the trader at his counter and the digger of the field, suddenly rose into equality with the noble and the king."

The historian Motley says: "To the Calvinists more than to any other class of men, the political liberties of Holland, England and America are due."

George Bancroft said of American Independence that "The Revolution of 1776, so far as it was affected by religion, was a Presbyterian measure. It was the natural outgrowth of the principles which the Presbyterianism of the Old World planted in her sons, the English Puritans, the Scotch Covenanters, the French Huguenots, the Dutch Calvinists, and the Presbyterians of Ulster."

President Benjamin Harrison said: "The Presbyterian Church has been steadfast for liberty, and it has kept steadfast for education. It has stood as stiff as a steel beam for the faith delivered to our fathers, and it still stands with steadfastness for that essential doctrine — the inspired Word. It is not an illiberal Church. There is no body of Christian in the world that opens its arms wider to all who love the Master. Though it has made no boast or shout, it has yet been an aggressive Church. It has been a missionary Church from the beginning."

try may find themselves revising their ideas, after a study of the survey of American churchgoing just completed by the Department of Commerce, says the Minneapolis Journal.

Church members in 1926 numbered more than fifty-four millions, a gain of more than twelve millions over the 1916 total. Virtually every denomination showed a net gain in membership for the decade, while the value of church edifices more than doubled, reaching the impressive figure of $3,842,577,133.

Self-styled young intellectuals writing in smart alec Eastern periodicals like to pretend that formal religion is in a state of obsolescence. But the census figures prove the reverse to be the fact. The vigorous health of an institution that lists half the citizenry as members, and that is making net gains averaging more than a million additional members every year, is scarcely open to question.

GREETINGS FROM REV. S. M. KELLY, DEVILS LAKE, N. D.

My heartiest congratulations to you and to the congregation on the realization of a long cherished dream. Your new church is certainly "a thing of beauty" and will be a source of inspiration as well as "a joy forever."

I trust that you will have a long, happy, and prosperous ministry under the new conditions, and that all things will work together for good, to the end that Christ's kingdom may be established more firmly in the hearts of the people to whom you minister and that joy may be in your own heart.

Mrs. Kelly joins me in sending all good wishes to you and yours,
S. M. KELLY.

ARCHITECTURE OF CHURCH IS VERY BEAUTIFUL

are 24 inches deep and weigh 105 pounds to the foot. They are 44 feet long.

The basement auditorium is practically the same size as the auditorium above. The extreme north end of the basement contains a well equipped kitchen and furnace. The furnace room is five feet below the basement floor. The coal bins are under the sidewalk and hold about 35 tons of coal.

Brick used in construction of the church is a rough cast brick with variegated colors, and gives a warm, cheery tone and color to the edifice. It provides a color combination that blends admirably with its surroundings, with the foliage of summer, or the snows of winter. They were said by bricklayers of Brainerd and their work is considered the best of its kind here.

A white cast stone, cast on the grounds, was used for caps, pilasters and base. The cross is cut stone.

The roof is shingled with an amber asbestos shingle with variegated colors including grey, green, red and brown. This harmonizes well with the brick work and gives the whole church exterior a bright, cheerful and inspiring tone.

The auditorium is treated on simple lines, both within and of great beauty. Acoustics are good. The brown shades of the cork floor and the ceiling have a restful effect. Lighting fixtures were designed in keeping with the period, as were the hinges of the entrance doors, etc.

The pews are of West Virginia white oak and are models of convenience. The seating capacity is 266, which may, however, be increased to 350.

The pictorial representations in the various windows of the church tell a story in chronological order.

Starting on the Gospel side, as you stand in the chancel of the church and face the nave, the side to the right the first window pictures the Annunciation, then the Apparition to the Shepherds, the Nativity, the Flight Into Egypt, the Boy Christ Among the Doctors, the Baptism, the Sermon on the Mount, Christ Knocking at the Door.

Beginning on the Epistle or left side, and approaching the chancel, the subjects are, in order: Bethany, Christ Blessing Little Children, Christ and Peter, the Good Shepherd, the Triumphal Entry Into Jerusalem.

the Prayer in the Garden, Easter Morn and On the Way to Emmaus.

The three-panel chancel window pictures the Ascension. This particular window has various inscriptions together with symbolic representations. The inscriptions are: "He ascended into Heaven;" "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God of Hosts, Heaven and Earth are Full of Thy Glory." The ladies aid association of the church presented this window.

The style of the work is what is called Grisaille and the main windows' pictorial representations are in medallion form. The windows themselves have quite a mosaic feeling in that there are a great many small pieces of glass fabricated in order to create the window as a single unit.

The color scheme of the windows is based on the very best arrangements of colors and is traditionally correct. Reds, blues and whites are the principal colors used and the primary colors are so placed as to produce many beautiful neutral tints, and the light stealing in produces the most wonderful refractions.

In these windows are some fifteen different tints of ruby glass. The same thing is true of the blues and whites. The assembling together of all these different tints and colors produces a very jewel-like effect in the windows. In the chancel window are some 3,000 pieces of glass and in the small windows 800 each.

The church is of Gothic architecture, and the Grisaille style of window is the style which was developed successfully during the Gothic period. Gothic architecture flourished between the 14th and 15th centuries and the noblest examples of cathedral buildings are to be found in Chartres, Cologne, Rheims.

The glass in this church is based on the style and manner of execution that is to be found in the fine old cathedrals of Europe.

GREETINGS FROM REV. J. F. McLEOD OF TWO HARBORS

It is our prayer that with this new and beautiful structure great good may be accomplished for God and men, in years to come.

Very truly yours,
J. F. McLEOD.

GREETINGS FROM REV. W. J. LOWRIE OF WINDOM, MINN.

It is a pleasure for me on the eve of the dedication of the new church to extend my heartiest congratulations to the pastor and people of Brainerd who have so loyally entered into the completion of this fine enterprise.

While I feel that the house of God need not be an elaborate structure of brick and stone in order to house his Spirit and carry on His worship yet it is incongruous for the people themselves to live in well appointed homes and at the same time permit themselves to worship within bare and dingy walls.

It was King David who saw this inconsistency when he said to the prophet, "See, how I dwell in a house of cedar but the ark of God dwelleth in a consecrated desire on his part to within curtains." Thus came about a temple in some way commensurate with the greatness of his God.

We know today that no house made with hands and graven with the skill of man can contain the Lord God; neither can "the heaven and the heaven of heavens contain Him," but we do know that the Lord loves those who with a "humble and contrite spirit," and with sacrificial loyalty rise up and build to His name.

Every brick in this churchly structure, purchased by the industry of honest labor and given in the spirit of dedication to the Lord Christ will be a token of memorial before God for the giver. And every such brick or stone will lift its mute appeal to heaven as long as its elements endure.

"Except the Lord build the house they labor but in vain who build it." Architects and constructors have their necessary part in every churchly edifice, and every generous soul who shares his humble portion to spread the gospel of God's grace has his necessary part, but unless back and beneath all the "builder and maker" be God the structure will be voiceless, speechless, and unhallowed.

As a pastor who experienced the sunshine and shadows of 12 years ministry in this city and church I wish to commend the spirit that undertook and has carried through this fine material enterprise. And my prayer is that this church may be a spiritual sanctuary wherein many souls may find their way to God in Christ; and many may find a sanctified oasis within a hallowed land.

The ancient Egyptians used the sycamore and cedar for carving. The Greeks and Romans used cedar. The Hindus used the sandal, the Japanese, ebony; the Swiss, satinwood.

REV. McCULLOUGH A GIFTED SPEAKER

Pastor of Calvary Church, Minneapolis, Long a Friend of Rev. Patterson

IS ALSO A MUSICIAN

Popularity is Attested by Fact That He is President of C. E. Union of State

Rev. Bruce M. McCullough, of Calvary Presbyterian church, Minneapolis, will give the address on Wednesday evening to the officers and teachers of the Sabbath schools and young people of the community.

When a young man he decided to enter the ministry while Rev. A. G. Patterson was pastor of the Aldrich Avenue church in Minneapolis. He graduated from McCormick Theological Seminary and was called to be pastor of the Litchfield Presbyterian church, in Minnesota. From there about three years ago he was called to be pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church, Minneapolis, a large and flourishing church on the North side. Since coming to that church he has led his people in the building of a first unit of a new church.

He is very gifted musically and is one of Minneapolis most popular young ministers as is demonstrated by the fact of his being president of the Christian Endeavor Union of the state of Minnesota.

Brainerd will be pleased to hear him in his initial sermon.

REV. BRUCE McCULLOUGH

GREETINGS FROM REV. W. J. LOWRIE OF WINDOM, MINN.

It is a pleasure for me on the eve of the dedication of the new church to extend my heartiest congratulations to the pastor and people of Brainerd who have so loyally entered into the completion of this fine enterprise.

While I feel that the house of God need not be an elaborate structure of brick and stone in order to house his Spirit and carry on His worship yet it is incongruous for the people themselves to live in well appointed homes and at the same time permit themselves to worship within bare and dingy walls.

It was King David who saw this inconsistency when he said to the prophet, "See, how I dwell in a house of cedar but the ark of God dwelleth in a tabernacle of goat hair." Thus came about the building of a temple in some way commensurate with the greatness of his God.

We know today that no house made with hands and graven with the skill of man can contain the Lord God; neither can "the heaven and the heaven of heavens contain Him," but we do know that the Lord loves those who with a "humble and contrite spirit," and with sacrificial loyalty rise up and build to His name.
